Jury Ponders Decision On King, Jones

By ROSS DAVIS

As distant church bells peeled out the noon hour today, a grim-faced jury took into its hands the life or death decision for convicted murderers Robert Lee Jones and John Lee King.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson had completed 10-minute instructions to the Marin Superior Court jury in the penalty phase of the Donald G. Corbett Jr. murder trial, and at the moment he directed the six-man and six-woman jury to its deliberation, the bells of St. Raphael's Church began tolling the 12 strokes for the hour.

LIVE OR DIE

The jury is not to speculate of and when the defendants might be paroled, admonished the judge, in event it seeks a life sentence rather than a verdict of death in the gas chamber. The decision, he said, must be restricted solely to whether the defendants shall live or die. The California Adult Authority alone has the responsibility for adjudging parole possibilities.

The brief instructions followed approximate 30-minute closing arguments by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales; Thomas P. Boyd, representing Jones, and Peter Allen Smith for King.

The two defendants were convicted July 21 of first degree murder of Corbett in his Sausalito apartment on March 27. The penalty phase of the trial began a week ago today.

'SENSELESS CRIME'

In asking a death penalty for both defendants, Bales said it did not matter which man actually wielded the icepick death weapon. "It was a senseless, useless killing, any way you look at it," he said.

Why did the men kill? asked Bales. "I believe the answers were given by the so-called experts that these defendants are sociopaths. They have no conscience . . . They take what they want when they want it."

A psychiatrist each for Jones and King testified yesterday the men have definite rehabilitation potentials.

Bales also struck out at the courtroom scene of reunion yesterday between Jones and his mother, Mrs. Carl H. Jones of Baltimore, Md. He urged the jury not to forget that Corbett is no longer alive to reunite in any courtroom with his relatives, and that the victim's 7-year-old daughter in Tucson, Ariz., was not brought by the prosecution to the trial.

In his case for a gas chamber verdict, he declared, "I appreciate it is a grim task, if you people don't do it, there is no one else to do it."

Emotional highlight of the arguments resulted with reading aloud by Boyd of a letter sent July 22 by Jones to his former girl friend, Mrs. Arlene Walsh, now of Fairfield. The letter told Mrs. Walsh, who testified during the trial, she was "the only good thing that ever happened" to Jones.

"I tried telling you several times of my past, but I just couldn't hurt you or involve you in my problems," Jones wrote. " . . . You gave me more in a week than I have had in a lifetime. When one truly loves for the first time, he is as old or as young as the one who returns that love."

At close of reading the letter, Boyd clasped the right shoulder of Jones, pleading against a death penalty. "Let's not further debase society," he urged. "Besides that, let's temper justice with mercy and let these men live."

The death penalty, he said, "brutalizes society" and is "an

Marin Survey By Stanford Under Attack

County Officials, Citizens Question Its Scope, Value

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin County civic and business leaders fired away at gaps in a Stanford Research Institute study of industrial possibilities for Marin last night, and at one point the usefulness of the study itself was questioned.

The session, called by the county supervisors, was attended by about 25 representatives of business firms and chambers of commerce.

County supervisors led the pleas for more information about development of recreational activities and the role of an airport in attracting industry.

NOT FAR ENOUGH

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt the report had not gone far enough in the area of recreation. Board chairman William A. Gnoss complained that it did not cover the development of airport facilities.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he wanted more information about the county's potential in boating and harbors.

"The total assessed valuation of boats berthed in the county is equal to the assessed valuation of all the light industry," Behr said.

DATA SOURCES

Carroll A. Snyker, vice president and manager of the Marin County Development Assn., said the association has some reservations about the usefulness of the report and some of the assumptions made in it, and some skepticism about data sources.

"The nature of the study is more suited as an academic inquiry on a broader scale than it is for practical, everyday use," Snyker complained.

He suggested the board of supervisors hold up approval of phase two of the study until there is a clearer picture of the potential practical usefulness.

"We feel a good, hard look is needed and a specific kind of directive needed," he declared.

The report reviewed last night was Phase One of the study showing what type of industrial and commercial activity would be suitable for Marin County. Phase Two is expected to indicate what the county might do to attract such industries.

Leydecker said it was unfortunate the study was divided into two sections.

Neil T. Houston, manager of economic studies for SRI, said the information requested about recreational and airport development was beyond the scope of the study.

What is covered in its second phase will depend on what the

Sen. Clair Engle Loses Long Fight Against Brain Tumor

DEATH IN WASHINGTON—These are three studies of Sen. Clair Engle, California Democratic senator, who died in Washington, D.C., today. At left, is Engle as he appeared shortly after his election to the Senate in 1958. He smiles (center) last June 10 as he arrived after an operation to vote in Washington, D.C., against the Southern filibuster. U.S., State Figures Pay Him Tribute

COMBINED UPI & AP

Sen. Clair Engle died today from a brain tumor that over the past year had turned him into a crippled and pathetic shadow of the man once known as "congressman fireball."

The California Democrat was 52.

There was immediate speculation that Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary and Democratic nominee for Engle's seat, would be named to serve out the remainder of Engle's Senate term. This would enable Salinger to campaign as an incumbent, and give him a considerable advantage in the November election. Salinger has cancelled an around-the-world trip to attend Engle's funeral.

President Lyndon B. Johnson led the tributes to Engle, saying:

"Clair Engle was set apart by qualities of intelligence, compassion and integrity which made him an unusual person and an exceptional public servant. His life was given to the pursuit of high goals and to the service of just causes. He was the servant of millions and the friend of many, but none held him in greater affection than Lady Bird and I did."

AT HOME

Death came at 3 a.m. (EDT) in his Washington home, almost 12 months from the time he suddenly suffered an inability to control his right arm and leg and had difficulty in speaking. An operation on Aug. 24 last year disclosed that he had a tumor on the brain.

Engle had been in Congress 21 years, and had been a senator since 1958. And during that time he had earned a reputation as a razor-tongued debater, a good legislator, and a superb vote-getter.

But last April 28, from the hospital room where he was recovering from two brain operations, he reluctantly abandoned all with the statement that "I have never lost a political battle" but was then "deep in another kind of battle."

UP FOR GRABS

At that time his Senate seat already was up for grabs Pierre Salinger quit as President Johnson's press secretary to enter the primary against State Comptroller Alan Cranston, even though when he did so Engle still was announcing plans to run for re-election.

On Capitol Hill today, flags dropped to half staff and the senate adjourned after meeting only 14 minutes out of respect for Engle.

The senators had last seen their colleague on June 19, when an ambulance brought him to Capitol Hill and he was taken into the chamber in a wheelchair to nod his "aye" to Senate passage of the Civil Rights bill. He also had shown up on June 10, in the same manner, to vote for shutting off the southern filibuster against the rights bill.

After his initial operation last August, there were optimistic statements by his physician that he soon would go home to recuperate. But instead, the senator was taken to the Bethesda, Md., Navy Medical Hospital. There a wall of official silence

Engle Famed For Colorful Speech Ability

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. Clair Engle was a salty-tongued speaker who had little patience with colleagues or witnesses who beat around the bush.

"Let's boil this down to brass tacks," he once chided a wordy witness at a hearing.

HIT FILIBUSTER

When the Eisenhower administration was seeking a way to combat the recession of the late 1950s, the junior Senator from California commented: "The president is moving with all the speed of a frozen glacier to counteract the threatened depression."

LOVED POLITICS

He loved to campaign and he spoke the language of his "fellow boondockers"—miners, ranchers, loggers and smalltown businessmen. But he also could spice his talk with quotations from Shakespeare and was famous for a wry sense of humor.

There was the time he delivered a smoothly-written speech at the dedication of Folsom Dam in Northern California. He was due to speak at another dam dedication the next day and someone asked him what kind

Marinite Regains Job, Mosk Opposes Court

Lester H. Hingsbergen of 32 Dellwood Court, San Rafael, who was fired June 26, 1963, after 32 years with the State Department of Motor Vehicles, was reinstated by San Francisco Superior Court yesterday.

Judge Joseph Karesh ordered that Hingsbergen, 58, be given full back pay since his dismissal, less what he had been earning as a car salesman. His department salary as assistant chief special investigator for Northern California was $960 a month.

MOSK STATEMENT

In Los Angeles Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said he would appeal the reinstatement of Hingsbergen, United Press International, reported.

Hingsbergen was fired after refusing to answer questions of the state attorney general's office during investigation of charges against his counterpart in Southern California. Hingsbergen at that time said he would co-operate with the investigation only if his interview were tape recorded.

GIFTS CHARGE

Later, in a hearing before the state personnel board, Hingsbergen was charged with forcing employees under him to sell raffle tickets, with accepting gifts from car dealers, and with having department employees run errands for friends at state expense.

In upholding Hingsbergen's petition for a writ of mandate, the judge looked at Deputy Atty.

Pierre To Fly Home From Asian Visit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Pierre Salinger, the Democratic candidate to replace the late Clair Engle in the U.S. Senate, will cut short an around-the-world tour and fly back to California tomorrow night, his campaign manager said today.

Don Bradley, who ran Salinger's successful primary campaign against state controller Alan Cranston, said he called the former presidential news secretary in Saigon early this morning shortly after learning of Engle's death in Washington, D.C.

"He said he'll be back on Friday (tomorrow) night so he can attend Engle's funeral," Bradley said. "He said he was sorry and that Engle was a great senator."

Bradley said the two did not talk about the possibility of Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointing Salinger to fill out Engle's unexpired term, which is up in January.

Salinger will face former actor George Murphy, the Republican candidate, in November for the Senate seat, which was to have been vacated anyway because Engle did not run for re-election.

Engle Was Sixth California Solon To Die In Office

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Clair Engle was the sixth United States Senator from California to die in office, according to researchers at the state library.

The first was Sen. David C. Broderick of San Francisco who was fatally injured in a duel with State Supreme Court Justice David S. Terry on Sept. 13, 1859, nine years after California was admitted to the Union.

The next death occurred Mar. 8, 1886 and took Sen. John F. Miller of San Francisco. Five years later, on Feb. 28, 1891, Sen. George Hearst, father of the late William Randolph Hearst, died in office.

Sen. Leland Stanford, one of the Big Four builders of the first transcontinental railroad, died on June 21, 1893 during his second term.

Finally, Sen. Hiram Johnson, California's best known reformer, died in office on Aug. 6, 1945. He was succeeded by former Sen. William Knowland, who gave up his seat in 1958 and was succeeded by Engle.

State Capitol Flags Fly At Half Mast

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Flags flew at half mast on the grounds of California's state capitol today because of the death of Sen. Clair Engle.

State police said the flags were raised to half mast at dawn and would stay that way until after the late California senator's funeral.

Washington Attorney Balks At Discussing Bank's Check

Wayne L. Bromley, Washington lobbyist and part-time attorney, refused yesterday to discuss a check paid him by a San Rafael lawyer which was endorsed by Bobby Baker, one-time Senate majority secretary and influence peddler.

Bromley, questioned in Washington by an Associated Press reporter, said he passed the District of Columbia bar examination and occasionally takes a legal case if it does not interfere with his work for the National Coal Policy Conference, for which he has been registered lobbyist since 1961. He has no law office, the AP reported.

Meantime, attorney Roderick P. Martinelli of San Rafael, who sent Bromley a check for $5,000 for services allegedly performed in connection with federal chartering of the Redwood National Bank, produced a letter from Bromley on stationery showing him as an attorney at law.

The letter, dated Feb. 26, 1963, said: "Pursuant to your letter of Feb. 5, I am enclosing my invoice to your office in the amount of $5,000 for legal services rendered."

Bromley's bill was paid with a check drawn March 4, 1963, on Martinelli's account at the Redwood National Bank. When the check was deposited with the Riggs National Bank of Washington, it bore three signature endorsements: Wayne L. Brom-

Rights Leaders Call On Negroes To Halt Riots Until After Nov. 3

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Negro leaders of four civil rights groups have called on America's Negroes to forego further racial demonstrations until after the Nov. 3 presidential election.

Instead, the nation's Negroes were asked to work for the defeat of Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater.

The statement, issued after a "summit conference" of the heads of six civil rights organizations, did not say so, but its implications was clear that the leaders felt further demonstrations could enhance Goldwater's chances of winning the White House.

A second statement was issued strongly denouncing rioting and looting by Negroes in recent weeks and rejecting the support of "extremist groups such as Communists."

The call for a "broad curtailment, if not total moratorium, of all mass marches, mass picketing and mass demonstrations" was signed by Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People; the Rev. Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, and A. Philip Randolph, chairman of the Negro American Labor Council.

The statement was not signed by James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, and John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Wilkins said both agreed personally with the statement, but postponed signing it until after they meet with their steering committees next month.

Malcolm X May Ask Life For A Life

CAIRO, UAR (UPI)—Malcolm X, American black nationalist leader, says he may fly back to New York to urge Negroes there to take "a life for a life."

He said he is considering holding a mass rally in New York Saturday. But he said he might stay in Cairo if he felt he could accomplish more here.

During the Harlem riots, Malcolm X was in Cairo for the second annual conference of the 34-nation Organization of African Unity.

"Negroes should stand on their rights even if it costs them their lives, but they should not die without taking life, he told the press here. "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a life for a life—that's the only way this thing can be brought to a head."

Malcolm X said there are whites who want trouble "because this creates a climate in which (Sen. Barry) Goldwater can walk into the White House."

Tuscaloosa Eateries Face Federal Suit

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has filed the first federal suit under the new Civil Rights Act against 15 eating places here.

The action, filed yesterday in U. S. District Court in Birmingham, charged that owners and managers of the 15 places have violated the law by refusing to serve Negroes.

Earlier yesterday, Negro attorneys in South Carolina filed suits against two Orangeburg movie houses. The lawyers charged that Negroes were turned away from ticket windows where whites were accommodated.

The Tuscaloosa suit demanded that restaurants and lunch counters in the University city be forbidden to discriminate against Negroes. It also requested a preliminary injunction against the defendants.

There was no immediate ruling. Court sources said a hearing would not be held until October because of a crowded court docket for the three federal judges in Birmingham.

The suit covers virtually every sizable restaurant and lunch counter in Tuscaloosa, except a hotel restaurant and a cafeteria that dropped their racial barriers after the law took effect.

Taxi Meters Sealing Plan Is Discussed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — How to seal taxi meters so they conform to standards that cannot be tampered with is being probed by state officials.

William A. Kerlin, chief of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, said Wednesday he would ask the National Bureau of Standards to look at all makes of taxi meters to see if they conform to present standards.

Kerlin questioned where the sealing of a meter should be applied. He stated it now appeared two places were likely: the area where the meter cable enters the meter and the cable gear box.

Earlier this week in Los Angeles, William O. Liebhart, chief taxi inspector for the city, told the Public Utilities and Transportation Board that no program for inspecting taxi meters has been in force since he assumed his post in 1946. The board is hearing charges that taxi meters were purposely adjusted to overcharge riders.

Aussies Sore At U.S.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australia has sent a stiff note to the U.S. government on the Senate's approval of legislation repudiating the Australian-American meat agreement. Informed sources said the note pointed out that cancellation of the agreement would have a potentially serious effect on relations between the United States and Australia.

Reimel Is Named As Head Of ABC

SACRAMENTO (AP)—James Reimel, whose golfing invitation led to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's recent broken ankle, was handed a break by the governor today—promotion to director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

The 55-year-old veteran of almost 20 years state service has been acting director since the resignation of Malcolm E. Harris last month to accept a post in the liquor industry.

Reimel has been with the department since its founding in 1955, following the liquor scandals of the early 1950s. He'll direct 450 employees, oversee a 4.5-million-dollar annual budget and face the problem of coping with administering California's 45,000 liquor licenses.

The job pays $19,101 a year.

It was Reimel who invited Brown golfing last week; and located an available course when they first were turned away from one club because it was ladies' day.

And it was on the 11th hole of the Auburn Country Club that the governor stepped into a hole and broke his left ankle.

Reimel said he will appoint Phillip J. Hanley an assistant, as deputy director, filling Reimel's spot. Gus Phillips, the department's chief special investigator, will take over Hanley's job.

Reimel served 10 years in the State Employment Department, becoming assistant director, before joining the ABC. A low-80s golfer and fisherman, he has a daughter married to a Venezuelan chemical engineer.

BOBBI JOHNSON
New 'Miss USA'

Beauty Title Awarded To Math Whiz

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new "Miss USA," a math whiz once serenaded by television star Ricky Nelson, competes tonight against beauties of 58 nations for the Miss Universe crown.

She probably is one of the calmest beauty winners on record. Eight thousand people watched her step smoothly from the line of 15 semifinalists and receive the "Miss USA" crown without a tear.

Bobbi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane B. Johnson, kissed her backstage, told her she had had some "tough competition," then set about congratulating the runnersup:

Tall Diane Balloun, Houston, Texas, first runnerup; Patricia Marlin, Fairbanks, Alaska, second; Janet Joy Erickson, Salt Lake City, third, and Johnna Ruth Reid, Paducah, Ky.

The winner's eye-catching dimensions, 35-22-35, are more than skin deep. Bobbi is a National Science Foundation scholar and attended the University of Kansas last year as an honors program mathematics major. She wants to program electronic computers.

One of Bobbi's most talked about experiences is her serenade from Ricky Nelson, singing son of Ozzie and Harriet.

"He crowned me Kansas City Auto Show Queen of 1963. He kissed me and he serenaded me," she said hesitantly. "He was very nice."

Pretty Rich Garbage

ZAANDAM, The Netherlands (UPI) — Mrs. A. Teunissen van Brederode, 67, a widow, lost her life savings yesterday when the garbage can she used as a strongbox for 10,000 guilders ($2,800) was taken away by garbagemen and its contents pulverized to be used as fertilizer.

Little Bit Too Late

LONDON (UPI) — William Kendle, 48, lost his attempt to have his 27-year marriage annulled yesterday despite his claim that the marriage was never consummated. The judge said he "sympathized" with Kendle, but ruled he had waited too long to ask for the annulment.

infection, a disease." It is not, "the philosophy of an enlightened people of California."

Speaking for King, Smith declared: "Society is not totally innocent in this case. Society bears on its own souls to a large extent the measure of conduct that we saw in this courtroom."

King, he said, is "not an animal to exterminate and be gotten rid of." . . . If you had the choice of two alternatives, would you over-punish or under-punish? Are we not all human beings? . . .

"The right to live is the right to make amends. The power that belongs to Almighty God is now in your hands. I beg you, don't sentence this man King to die."

In testimony yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Anne King, wife of the co-defendant, said they were married Jan. 24, 1963, and resided with her parents in San Francisco.

She said King worked at automobile repair, but refused to let her work because he felt it his duty to support her. Her husband got along with everybody, she said, and her father especially liked King.

She said her father, who died Tuesday of cancer, encouraged her to testify in the trial, saying, "Take care of Johnny."

The short and dark woman, about 24, said she and King moved to Sacramento for a few months and he worked about a month selling newspaper subscriptions. He later went to Texas for work, she added, and she returned to San Francisco to her sick father.

At no time, she said, was King violent. "In fact, one time I smacked him one and he didn't do anything." She also recalled King once went out in the rain for two days looking for their lost cat.

In relating both incidents, the woman smiled in King's direction, calling on him to join in the recollections.

Under cross-examination by District Attorney Bales, Mrs. King admitted her husband did not notify her he was back in Marin County in March, residing on a Sausalito houseboat. She said her parents had moved in San Francisco and he wouldn't have known how to contact her.

On leaving the witness stand, she crossed to King, hugged him, and they kissed.

She had disappeared yesterday morning shortly before she was to testify, but reappeared at noon. There was no explanation given for her departure.

Another witness for King was Dr. Jean L. M. Pouteau, San Rafael psychiatrist. He said he interviewed King several times following the latter's arrest and found King had anti-social reactions, a dependency upon people, and a chronic anxiety.

He said King was raised by a stepmother in a home-type clinic where healing was done by rest and electric currents, and King apparently did not know for a long time the woman might not be his real mother.

He said the woman married often, and one husband—an inmate several times at San Quentin Prison—was particularly cruel to King, beating him and causing the boy to live in terror. He said King's real father died when the defendant was about two years old.

After King served time in Illinois State Prison for "indecent liberties" with a sister-in-law, Doctor Pouteau said, he lived a "nomad" life, staying no more than three months in each place. He said King married "at least twice," was a good worker on cars, and an excellent dancer.

He said King had a definite tendency to become involved with older women, usually prostitutes or dance instructors who often dominated him.

King, he said, looks up to "daring, cool and unfearing persons" but is himself "frightened, intense, and wants to make good impressions."

He said the defendant tends to back away from violence. "I think he sees the world as a pretty fearful place," he added.

Asked by Bales on cross-examination if King denied killing Corbett, the doctor said he had. He also added King's I.Q. was "very superior" to the average person.

Another witness was Mrs. Arlene Walsh, girl friend of Jones who had testified during the earlier phase of the trial. She said Jones wrote her a letter July 22, the day following his conviction.

Thomas P. Boyd, attorney for Jones, introduced the letter into evidence. He said it told how highly Jones thought of Mrs. Walsh, that she was the "finest thing" in his life, and showed Jones had some remorse for his behavior.

Bales asked how many other letters Jones wrote Mrs. Walsh after his arrest and before conviction. She replied he had not written. "Are you in love with him now?" he asked.

"I don't know," she said.

JOB

Gen. Kenneth Sperry and declared:

"You appear stunned. I would prefer to believe that the people of California would rejoice that a court, after exhaustive hearings, has found that an employee who has rendered 32 years of faithful service with an unblemished record, has been found not to have breached his trust."

The judge ruled that Hingsbergen had been denied his constitutional rights when he was fired. The evidence presented against Hingsbergen "did not show he abused his position," Judge Garesh said.

On the raffle ticket matter, the judge found that Hingsbergen did not use coercion. "And anyway, who among us has not bought or sold raffle tickets?" asked the judbe.

Regarding the charge of using state cars and employees for non-state errands, the judge held that there should be better defined regulations. "What he did does not warrant dismissal for a man with an unspotted record," the judge declared.

ENGLE

descended between him and the outside world.

In Sacramento, Gov. Edmund G. Brown today said.

"Clair Engle was a fine human being, a dedicated public official and a good friend and all of us will miss him.

"Clair and I started out in politics together many years ago. He was a District Attorney, then a State Senator, a congressman and a U. S. Senator. To everyone of those jobs he brought new, high standards for public service.

"He was a game, outspoken, fighting liberal and it is no less a tragedy for his state than for his family that illness cut him down before his work was done. Our sympathies and prayers are with his wife, who fought with him so bravely during the past year."

Rep. Harry R. Sheppard, dean of the California delegation, said Engle's death had been "a great loss to the state and the nation."

"We all deeply regret his passing," he said. "There are all too few words a person can say. He was a fine Congressman and a fine Senator."

Rep. George P. Miller, a senior member of the California Democratic delegation, said he had been associated with Engle for 25 years. Miller said he was "proud" of having worked together with Engle in the realization of some projects, including the American River dam. "He made many great contributions to our state," he said.

Engle's republican colleague, Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., officially performed "my sad duty to announce" Engle's death when the senate met at 11 a.m. (EDT). Kuchel followed with a brief tribute.

Among the tributes were those from Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., both of whom served with Engle in both the house and senate.

Kuchel presented the formal resolution adjourning the Senate until tomorrow out of respect for Engle. An official delegation to attend the funeral will be named later.

In his tribute to Engle, Kuchel said:

"He served his native state and his country with an unflinching devotion to the public trust. Many of California's gigantic projects—water, power, recreation, harbor improvements and others—are directly traceable to his leadership and his labor. Much beneficial legislation of national scope reflected his handiwork.

"His energies were seemingly unbounded and he gave them all, without stint, to the people. The Senate had a fondness and respect for him which reflected the esteem in which his fellow Californians held him . . . "

Sen. Alan Bible (D-Nev.) expressed grief over the loss of one of the Senate's "most respected and courageous members."

The Rev. Dr. Frederick Harris Brown, chaplain of the Senate, said in an opening prayer that the lowering of the flag marked once again the loss of "a devoted and able member of this body."

"We look up to Thee in gratitude for the long service to his state and to the nation of Clair Engle," the chaplain said.

The Senate chaplain said Engle had left "the memory of a brave fight across poignant months when in spite of grievous bodily affliction he proved that his mind and heart were still dwelling on the vital matters which centered here."

Engle was born in Bakersfield Sept. 21, 1911. He was taken to northern California when he was 6 months old, and there, at a young age, he learned to ride and rope a calf. He attended Red Bluff High School, Chico State College, and studied law at the University of California.

In 1942 he was elected to the California State Senate, and then to the U.S. House of Representatives the following year. In his early days he took to flying to cover his 600-mile long district and became a familiar figure on ranches and in saloons patronized by the ranchers, loggers, miners and farmers of the mountain country.

He ran for the Senate in 1958 and won. Never did he lose an election.

He is survived by his wife, Lucretia Caldwell Engle; a daughter by a previous marriage, Yvonne Engle Childs; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Engle, Sr., of Red Bluff, and two brothers, Fred J. Jr. and Robert E. Engle, both of California.

supervisors request, Houston said. "I'm sure a good deal of care will have to be taken before Phase Two is started," he said.

The cost and the time required for the second phase also depend on what supervisors request, Houston said.

Some other comments during the session were:

County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel—As far as economy, Marin County is stable with no sudden upward trends and then drops . . . the county should capitalize on its extensive shoreline.

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs—In any further reports, planners need to know the effect of industry on surrounding areas.

Former County Supervisor Vera Schultz—The county needs another kind of tax base, aside from residential, but there is a problem because investors sometimes are not made to feel welcome. "I feel there is a phychology and a way of thought that needs retraining if we are to solve the dilemma."

The first phase of the study, costing $25,400, has not yet been finally approved by the supervisors. The county's preliminary budget includes $6,500 for the second phase.

COLOR

of speech he had prepared.

"It's a dandy," he answered. "It runs about 40 minutes."

The friend remarked that writing two different speeches for the same type of occasion must have been a difficutl task.

"Oh, no," Engle replied. "It's the same speech. I just holler in different places."

In Congress, Engle leaves behind two tragically contrasting pictures—the man he once was, and the shadow he became in the final months.

He was called "the only active volcano in Congress" while in the house. He took his tremendous energy to the Senate in 1958.

Engle's vocabulary alone would have won him a distinctive niche in the nation's capital. It was blunt, colorful, to the point, sometimes irreverent and sprinkled with words picked up among the Northern California ranchers, miners and loggers who made up his constituency when he served eight terms in the house.

This was the Engle that a western colleague once likened to a mountain quail—"when he lights, he starts running."

But he became a shambling, blankly staring, silent man brought into the Senate chamber in a wheelchair, who one day tried painfully and hopelessly to introduce a bill calling for the delay of construction of an atomic plant in an earthquake zone in California.

Finally Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), introduced the bill, and for a moment Engle remained standing at his desk. Then, one leg dragging and his arm in a black sling, he was led slowly from the chamber.

THE CHECK THAT WENT TO WASHINGTON —Face of a check paid to Wayne L. Bromley, Washington lobbyist and part-time attorney, which became a subject for comment on the Senate floor is shown above. It was drawn by San Rafael attorney Roderick P. Martinelli on his own account. What made the check interesting was the second of three signatures endorsements below—that of Robert G. Baker, better known to the nation's newspaper readers as Bobby Baker.

1/15/64 - Treasury Draft 1099 sent to Bromley from 1096 to Rev. Center, Ogden, Utah

REQUEST FOR PAYMENT — Wayne L. Bromley's letter to Martinelli, asking $5,000 for his legal services in connection with chartering the Redwood National Bank, was written on a letterhead identifying him as an attorney at law. Investigation this week disclosed he practices law part-time, while holding a job as lobbyist.

Lobbyist Won't Talk Of Check And Baker

ley, Robert G. Baker and a third which appears to be Grace A. Brentwood.

Martinelli said he considered it customary to engage a Washington attorney to assist in chartering the bank. He said Bromley's name was given him by a relative of one of the bank's organizers.

However, Martinelli's bill for legal services in organizing the bank had been paid before Bromley submitted his bill, and directors of the bank refused to reimburse Martinelli for the additional $5,000 outlay, considering it excessive, according to Byron W. Leydecker, bank president.

The bank received its charter in September, 1962, and Bromley's bill was not submitted until the following February. Meanwhile, organizers of the bank had selected Leydecker as president. At the time the new bank was organized, Leydecker was a vice president of Crocker-Anglo National Bank in Stockton. He had formerly managed a branch of Crocker-Anglo (now Crocker-Citizens) in San Rafael.

Organizers of the Redwood National Bank were Dr. John C. Siemens, Roger J. Darrow, Abe Blumenfeld, Dr. Sherman Leland, and Douglas M. Christensen.

Martinelli said the endorsement "Robert G. Baker" on the check meant nothing to him at the time. The name "Bobby Baker" became a household word a few months later with stories from Washington about his high-flying financial dealings while secretary to the Democratic majority of the Senate. He resigned that job on Oct. 7, 1963, partly because of questions raised by Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.), who on Oct. 10 introduced a resolution calling for a Senate rules committee investigation of Baker's wheeling and dealing.

It was Williams who brought up the matter of the check on the Senate floor Monday. He said it had been paid to a lobbyist in connection with chartering of the Redwood National Bank and had been turned over to Baker, who cashed it for 50 $100 bills at the Senate disbursing office. He did not name Bromley.

The Associated Press late yesterday said Bromley, when questioned about the check, denied he was a friend of Bobby Baker. The AP had earlier identified him as "one of Baker's pals," and the New York Herald-Tribune, in a Washington story, said he was a former assistant to Baker in the Senate secretarial staff.

Dead Yachtman's Ex-Wife Says He Hid Property

SANTA ANA (UPI)—The former wife of yachtsman William A. Bartholomae, who was stabbed to death in his home, has filed a creditor's claim asserting he concealed up to 10 million dollars in community property at the time of their divorce.

Mrs. Sara Bartholomae received a 5.25 million-dollar settlement when she divorced Bartholomae in 1963.

The concealment charge was included in her claim yesterday.

Bartholomae, 70, was stabbed fatally in the kitchen of his Newport Beach, Calif., home last January. Minola Gallardo, the sister of the victim's sister-in-law, was tried for manslaughter in Bartholomae's death, but was acquitted.

McCarthy, Humphrey Backers Mark Time

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Most of the men on President Lyndon B. Johnson's list of vice presidential possibilities can bite their nails in the privacy of their executive offices as the decision on the Democratic running mate draws closer.

But the two Senators on this magic and constantly fluctuating list—the two Minnesotans, Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy—are the subjects of intense scrutiny as they go about their work in the legislative arena.

Wearing carefully casual business-as-usual miens, both openly admit that they'd like the job, but insist that no one runs for vice president. As Senator McCarthy puts it, "there is only one delegate to the vice presidential nominating convention—the presidential candidate."

Still, just being contenders puts them in a new light, and their unique situation of being from the same state makes the rivalry more titillating. Capitol visitors from everywhere recognize them, ask for autographs and stop to shake their hands. When they rise to speak on the Senate floor, there is a buzzing denoting special interest among spectators, who watch the performance of these two with a critical eye not accorded non-contenders.

On the surface their daily routine is scarcely affected by their new prominence. Humphrey, whip, is busy with all legislation before the Senate, and is using his influence with house members to drum up support for the poverty bill on that side of the capital.

McCarthy, running for re-election in Minnesota, is concentrating on such grass-roots issues as a bill governing beef imports, the kind of legislation Minnesota farmers understand.

But while the two principals affect the posture of sitting back philosophically waiting for lightning to strike, their staffs and supporters are doing everything they can to generate the necessary electricity.

In McCarthy's office, where photographs of John F. Kennedy, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Hubert Humphrey grace the wall, copies of four McCarthy books are packaged autographed for Johnson and ready to be sent to the White House. The books spell out the professor-turned-politician's liberal political philosophy, and one of them, "The Challenge of Freedom," bears a ringing endorsement from Lyndon B. Johnson on its paper cover.

McCarthy's crowded quarters in the old Senate Office Building also produce a wealth of material about the man, his background and his views, all in readiness for the coming Senate campaign—but useful, they admit, in any event should a long shot come home.

McCarthy's aides rankle at the suggestions that it would be an insult to Humphrey for Johnson to pick his junior colleague as a running mate. They point out that McCarthy was sworn into Congress the very same day as Humphrey, and they suggest that this son of an Irish-American farmer has broader background as a result of his 10 years in the House of Representatives plus his senate term.

In Humphrey's office across the street in the new Senate Building, his staff members display a flood of clippings showing their man's strong standing with party organization men around the country. They also have handy the editorial position taken by a Catholic paper in Georgia, decrying the talk of "balancing" the ticket with a Catholic. (McCarthy's Catholicism is considered a major asset for him; Humphrey is a Congregationalist.)

The Humphrey people are also quick to observe that no one "deserves" the nomination more than their man—an area in which Humphrey outdistances all of the big field of hopefuls.

They point out that no one is closer to the president than the senior Senator from Minnesota. Almost every day, they say, the president calls Humphrey to ask how things are going on the Hill or what he thinks about campaign strategies under discussion. "They talk the same language," said a staff aide.

McCarthy readily admits that he is not as close to the president as Humphrey is.

"I've never been buddies with Lyndon, although we know each other well," he said. "I think it is not necessarily good to have two such close friends on the ticket."

His staff recalled, however, that even before Kennedy was buried, the new President Johnson summoned McCarthy to his house to discuss the problems of tax legislation which had been stalled for a year, and called him daily while the bill was moving toward passage.

LBJ STILL HAS MADE NO CHOICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson said today he would want the Democratic vice-presidential nominee to be attractive, prudent, and progressive with a passionate consideration for the welfare for the people — but "I've made no decision" on the choice.

The president told a suddenly called news conference:

"There are still many people being considered."

Crazed Father Kills Daughters With Razor Blade

WARSAW, Ill. (UPI)—A crazed father killed his two teen-age daughters by slitting their throats with a razor blade today and told police, "I had to kill them at sunrise."

Sheriff Ivan Latherow said the father, Carroll Schmitt, 56, attacked his daughters with a baseball bat as they tried desperately to flee their farm home.

Schmitt, who had spent seven weeks in a mental institution earlier this year, submitted docilely to capture.

"I had to do it, I had to do it," he told Latherow. "I had to kill them at sunrise."

The sheriff said Schmitt told him there was "a smell of death" in his bedroom and his daughters were to blame.

Blazes In Sierra Follow Lightning

REDDING (UPI)—Fire crews today battled dozens of blazes ignited by a slow moving lightning storm that drifted across northern California last night.

The storm struck along a 50 mile curve from Trinity Lake to McCloud, in Siskiyou County.

Ed Heilman, fire control officer for Shasta-Trinity National Forest, said airplanes were discovering a new blaze about every five minutes. Smokejumpers were being used on two of the most dangerous fires — on Nasoni creek and the Bolii Bokka area on the McCloud river.

McCarthy Readies Platform Planks

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) will introduce platform statements on civil rights, economy and finance, and on billboard control at the Republican State Convention in Sacramento this weekend.

The convention and the Republican State Central Committee meetings will be held at the state capitol on Saturday and Sunday.

McCarthy's plank on economy and government finance includes these points:

Legislation should be enacted to encourage business and industry, greater employment opportunity, equitable distribution of tax burden, reduction of unemployment.

The Republican Party should insist on strict economy in state government, eliminating unnecessary or duplicated services. The party is opposed to the proposed state withholding tax on personal incomes. California should return to pay-as-you-go financing instead of relying on general obligation bonds to finance capital improvements.

On civil rights, McCarthy would "support all existing federal, state and local statutes controlling discrimination in places of public accommodation, employment and housing."

He calls for programs "to provide the best educational opportunities for all Californians; encourage better understanding among all men, for true establishment of all human rights rests with the individual and in his conscience."

McCarthy seeks stronger billboard control legislation, especially along the highways.

Driver's Neck Hurt In Rear-End Collision

Herbert Schreiber, 53, of 2 Rosebank Lane, Kentfield, was treated for a bruised neck yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car was hit from behind on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Rosebank Lane at 8 a.m.

Schreiber stopped his car to make a left turn onto Rosebank when an auto driven by Wendell Edwin Zumsteg, 50, of Oakland hit it from behind, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Holy War Worsens

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — Terrified refugees say warriors of the fanatic Lumpa religious sect speared 50 African men to death in two North Rhodesian villages, drove the surviving women and children into grass huts and burned them alive. State College Unit Budgets $80 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Trustees of California state colleges yesterday approved an $80,121,500 outlay for 1965-66. The bulk of expenditures is contingent on voter approval in November of a 380-million-dollar bond issue.

Of the more than 80 million dollars, San Diego State would get $11,563,600, San Jose State $10,440,600, the new campus at Palos Verdes $10,211,000 and Los Angeles State $10,107,000.

Other allotments would include Hayward $4,451,000, Fullerton $3,397,000, Sonoma $2,864,300 and Fresno State $1,860,800.

Most of the money would be for libraries and buildings for music, speech, art and science classrooms on 18 campuses.

Apportionment Ruling Attacked By Clausen

The U. S. Supreme Court is wrong in ruling that both houses of the state legislature should be represented on the basis of population, two Californa congressmen declared yesterday in Washington.

Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) of the First Congressional District and Rep. John F. Baldwin (R-Martinez) presented their statement before the House Judiciary Committee.

Clausen and Baldwin spoke against a recent Supreme Court decision which held that both branches of the state legislature must be apportioned on the basis of population to comply with the 14th Amendment.

The California Assembly is already apportioned by population. If this were made to apply to the state senate as well, "this would mean that three counties in Southern California would have complete voting domination over both houses of the California Legislature," Baldwin and Clausen declared.

"There is no evidence whatsoever . . . that any member who participated in the drafting of the 14th Amendment contemplated that the 14th Amendment would apply to the state legislatures in the manner recently decided by the Supreme Court.

"We are convinced that the Supreme Court has misinterpreted the 14th Amendment."

The two congressmen have introduced a proposed constitutional amendment providing that a state legislature need have only one house apportioned on the basis of population.

Fairfax Man Fined For Drunken Driving

A Fairfax carpenter drew $149 fine and six months probation yesterday for drunken driving.

Prowler Detects Faulty Door, Gets Cash, Lantern

A prowler rummaged through an apartment in Strawberry and got away with about $75 in cash and an underwater lantern worth $15, the owner reported to sheriff's deputies last night.

William D. Muir, a salesman of 101 Belvedere Drive, Apt. 1, said the theft occurred Tuesday. The thief had entered through the front door, which has a faulty lock.

Muir told Deputy Sheriff Wyman Tong that he jammed a chair against the door yesterday and noticed last night that another attempt had been made to enter his apartment.

Incoming State GOP Leader To Seek Building Unity First

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The incoming chairman of California's Republican Party sees his first tasks as building party unity and developing devotion to the party rather than to individual leaders.

Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of La Jolla, now vice chairman and slated to move up to the top spot by tradition, concedes he has his work cut out for him.

"My hope is that we can get the whole party to work together without factional divisions, but I'll have to admit it will be a tough job," he said yesterday night in an interview.

The party holds its state convention at the Capitol Saturday, and the Central Committee meets Sunday.

As state chairman, succeeding Caspar W. Weinberger of San Francisco, Parkinson will be in a position to name a large portion of the executive committee, which functions as a board of directors for the central committee's 1,030 members.

Election of a vice chairman is expected to touch off a battle between the party's conservative and moderate wings.

Vernon Cristina of San Jose is backed by fellow members of the Goldwater delegation which was victorious in the June 2 presidential primary and played a key role in the Arizona senator's nomination.

James Halley, San Mateo County Republican chairman, has the backing of moderates, headed by U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel, who backed Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Television Still Too Bloody, Senate Investigator Avers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said today prime television time is permeated with programs "featuring excessive crime, violence and debased moral standards."

In a statement prepared for the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee on the reopening of its hearings on television programming, the Connecticut Democrat said developments since its original inquiry in 1961-62 failed to demonstrate "the increased concern and cooperation we were led to expect."

Dodd, the subcommittee chairman, said that early this year he had ordered a study of current programs to assess whether the reduction of violence predicted by network officials in 1961 and 1962 had actually occurred.

"I find that with the exception of one network, CBS, very little improvement is evident," he said. "Not only did we fail to see an appreciable reduction of violence in new shows, but we also found that the most violent shows of the 1961-62 season have been syndicated and are now being reshown on independent networks and stations."

Scientists Urge Primitives Study

BY WIL LEPKOWSKI
Progress Reports Writer

WASHINGTON — Medical scientists are being urged to study the inhabitants of the world's few remaining primitive societies before civilization wipes them out.

Many of these isolated communities are threatened with "immediate disintegration" of their culture, says the United Nations' World Health Organization (WHO).

Unless scientists move quickly they will lose forever the chance to study how heredity affects and is affected by disease; how heredity affects birth and death rates. The scientists also should be on hand to observe the encroachment of civilization and watch for the appearance of new diseases resulting from contacts with advanced cultures and see how breeding with outsiders affects life span and health.

"This presents a challenge to biomedical scientists which has an urgency and importance quite out of proportion to the relatively small number of people involved or the health problems concerned," the agency says in a new report.

These small groups include the Thule Eskimos, the northernmost group of people in the world; the Guayaki, hunters who roam the forests of eastern Paraguay; the central African Pygmies; the fast disappearing Onges of an area called Little Andaman in Asia; the aborigines of Australia, and the 200 inhabitants of Nuguria, a Micronesian island in the South Pacific. The report names about 50 groups in all.

Some natives are resistant to cancer, others to heart disease. The teeth of some never decay. Most are susceptible to diseases unknown in the west. Chronic diseases such as arthritis strike some cultures but not others.

Medical scientists would like explanations to these and other phenomena so that they can understand more deeply why and how such diseases, and related ones, operate in susceptible societies.

As a practical case in point, scientists at Walter Reed Hospital here are becoming increasingly concerned with the disease dangers U. S. Forces face as they enter strange tropical territory. Medical science does not yet know how to cope with them because there are no records.

Under the WHO plan, scientists would take entire medical and biological inventories of primitive cultures. The effort would be vast and expensive, the report states. But right now all the proper techniques exist.

Going into a village and collecting all the necessary data would be a long, rough process. Just getting the natives to accept the presence of intruders would take months and even years. Another big hurdle would be overcoming possible resistance to eye tests, hearing examinations, dental checks, blood tests, electrocardiograms, and other 20th century body probes.

Scientists would also study village surroundings such as soil, type of terrain, variety of plant, animal and insect life, and the kinds of food available for clues as to why certain people are biologically unique.

Is such an obviously ambitious and expensive venture really necessary? Most scientists agree that it is, even if no real practical benefits result. The fast is, they argue, that these cultures are not going to be around much longer and that the contributions to evolution and fertility studies alone would be worth it.

Pacifist Gets Six-Month Term

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John Steven Ross, 26, San Francisco pacifist, was sentenced to six months in jail today for failing to report for induction into the armed forces in 1961.

U.S. Dist. Judge William T. Sweigert also ordered that Ross work for 18 months in some public service endeavor under supervision of probation officers after his release from jail.

Ross, who has lived the past four years in Mexico, was apprehended here after his arrest as a sit-in demonstrator in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

Pollution Rules To Cost Extra, Novato Learns

It will cost approximately $6,000 per year for the Novato Sanitary District to meet the new higher standards set up by the regional water pollution control board, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager of the district, told district directors last night.

John Jenks, consulting sanitary engineer who is making a master plan for the Novato District, gave an oral report on the higher standards set by the regional board.

Both the Novato and Ignacio plants of the district can meet the new standard, but it will require additional fulltime chlorination, according to Joseph.

The board authorized Joseph to prepare a letter of protest to the regional board on the algae requirement for dumping treated sewage into Novato Creek. This letter is to be submitted to the board at its Aug. 10 meeting for approval.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

1. Annexed 33 acres west of Tamalpais Avenue at the end of Hill Road, and the Pleasant Valley School site of 12 acres west of Sutro Avenue.
2. Approved hiring Billie K. Waldrup as secretary and Frank G. McFarland as maintenance man.

Novato Husband Says Daughter, Wife Missing

A Novato mother and her 2-year-old daughter were reported as missing today.

George Tsimpinos told Novato police his wife and daughter left home yesterday morning with another woman, known only as "Harriet." He described Mrs. Tsimpines as slight build, having black hair and brown eyes. He did not give police a description of her clothing.

He said that they might be headed for Massachusetts in a convertible belonging to "Harriet," as it had a license from that state.

The opening of the Suez Canal gave South Arabia a superlative strategic importance as a guardian of a major crossroads.

Horse, Man-Killing Virus Winters In Snake Blood

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The mystery of where viruses responsible for a troublesome summer disease of man and beast find safe harbor when winter comes has been solved at last. Their winter home, as unlikely as it is going to sound, is the blood of snakes.

The disease is Western equine encephalitis. It has an eastern variation caused by a related virus which now can be assumed to survive winters in the same way. That remains to be proved, of course. University of Utah scientists worked only with the western virus and western snakes.

In some areas of West and East the virus is always around in summer. It is to be found in birds which are its "reservoirs." And in the mosquitos which take them out of the reservoirs and put them into horses which may well die of the infection if their blood is low in antibodies.

Periodically there is a sharp change in this "endemic" state. That's an epidemic year and then scores of human beings become accidental hosts of the viruses and are sickened and even killed along with larger numbers of horses, the natural hosts. In recent years there have been serious epidemics in New Jersey and Massachusetts as well as in western states.

But when winter comes, the viruses are not to be found in their summer reservoirs, the birds, nor in those mosquitos which manage to survive the cold by hibernating. You'd think they no longer existed but obviously they're in a snug harbor since they reappear in spring and summer.

Prof. Louis B. Gebhardt and his associates, Dr. Douglas W. Bill and G. John Stanton and Glen C. Collett solved this mystery by catching large numbers of snakes in swamps within a 200-mile radius of Salt Lake City and testing them for viruses in their laboratory.

The snakes were of three varieties — garter, gopher and blue racer. While in the relatively low temperature which sends snakes into hibernation, their blood contained viruses. As temperature increased, as it does in spring when snakes come out of hibernation, the viruses increased. As temperature went higher, as it does in summer, the viruses disappeared from snake blood but by then the snakes had saved the viruses.

In conclusive experiments the scientists showed that the mosquitos which spread the viruses (Culex tarsalis), feed greedily on the snakes, which are their fellow inhabitants of marshland, and in early spring take up snake-blood highly charged with viruses.

The scientists also demonstrated that climatic conditions dictated whether a large number of snakes contain viruses at winter's end and whether there would be large numbers of mosquitos to suck viruses out of them and deposit them in the summer hosts, birds and rodents. Under these conditions you could expect an epidemic year of viral encephalitis.

In reporting to the New England Journal of Medicine, the scientists said it may be possible in the Rocky Mountain area to predict by May whether any year will produce an epidemic. A high percentage of sunshine in May will greatly increase the viral content of snake blood, they said, and if the high percentage of sunshine continues through the ensuing months the mosquito population will be more than enough to distribute the viruses widely into man and beast.

Miami Beach Hotels Skimpy At Beginning

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The first resort facility erected here was a one-room shack built in 1901 and rented to mainland residents who wanted to spend a vacation on the beach.

The first hotel with a swimming pool was built in 1914. Now the city has 370 hotels and more than 800 swimming pools.

Greenbrae Man's Skills To Renew Palace Of Fine Arts

Joseph Minutoli of Greenbae has been awarded the contract to do the cast stone reconstruction of the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco and is expected to commence work next week.

Minutoli is president of Travertite Co. of San Francisco, low bidder for the pre-cast and molding subcontract at $1,327,000, his sister, Mrs. Angela Haines of Mill Valley, said today.

Minutoli, who lives at 65 Corte Amada, is a son of the late Andrea Minutoli, a pioneer in cast stone construction who did work on the old San Francisco Fox Theater, now demolished, as well as on the Packard Building and Federal and State buildings in San Francisco. Minutoli learned his techniques of the ornate type of work from his father. In Marin, he cast the statue of Christ in front of St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Included in the Palace of Fine Arts work, said Mrs. Haines, are a large number of statues and columns. "The whole job is said to be the biggest in this type of cast stone ever let," she reported.

"This is also a labor of love," she continued, "since my brother is anxious to do the work at a minimum cost to the city because he wants to perpetrate the Palace of Fine Arts for his children and grandchildren.

The overall contract, awarded to M and K Corp., San Francisco, is $6,649,800.

Novato Police Officer Resigns

Officer Donal Merkley will leave the Novato Police Department tomorrow after more than three years of service with it.

In his resignation, Merkley said he was leaving "for personal reasons."

Mayor Robert D. Carrow said today that Merkley's resignation was news to him. He said Merkley was not discussed at a closed session of the Novato City Council last week, held to discuss a possible dismissal.

IT KEEPS WATCH ON SMOG

Dr. Charles W. Aby (left), San Rafael city councilman and chairman of the board of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, examines a new hydrocarbons analyzing device installed yesterday in San Francisco for a job of continuous recording of smog density. Also inspecting the instruments are T. Louis Chess of San Mateo, vice chairman of the board, and Dr. Henry C. Wohlers, head of the district's technical division.

Auto Smog Hearing Brings Calls For More, Less Law

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Auto smog controls will work only if the state has laws through which they can be enforced, says the head of the Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

D. A. Jensen recommended before the Assembly Committee for Transportation and Commerce yesterday, these new laws:

Requiring car owners to install smog control devices on vehicles purchased out of state; making mandatory yearly certification of a smog device inspection; empowering the California Highway Patrol to revoke licenses of device inspectors who cheat or overcharge car owners and requiring that inspection stations be set up in every county.

Two members of the assembly committee indicated they might try to "kill" the crankcase blowby installation section of the state law. Assemblyman Joseph A. Gonsalves (D-Artesia) and N. N. Charles (D-Englewood) said mechanics have explained labor costs are $15 to install a rebreather valve worth $1, and cited complaints that the device has caused mechanical failures.

Jensen discounted the complaints, saying that any state-approved crankcase device would not harm any car with an engine in fairly good working condition.

Committee chairman Tom C. Carrell (D-San Fernando) declined to comment on his fellow members' hopes of amending the law.

Judge Reduces AP Suit Award

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—District Court Judge Charles Murray today reduced former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's jury award in his libel suit against the Associated Press from $800,000 to $500,000.

The judge also ruled that the AP was not actuated by malice in writing about Walker's activities on the University of Mississippi campus. The jury said the Associated Press was.

Walker filed the suit in connection with AP accounts of his activities on the Ole Miss campus during enrollment of Negro James Meredith Sept. 30, 1962.

RARE FINDS

Bank Boxes' Treasures Auctioned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state auctioned off the musty contents of unclaimed bank safe deposit boxes Wednesday and some fascinating items turned up.

One box yielded a copy of the New York Herald, dated April 15, 1864, an "extra, 8:10 a.m." edition flashing the news of President Lincoln's assassination. It sold for $40.

Another box held a thank you note from poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, penned Dec. 24, 1879, thanking a man for a program of a concert which Longfellow "never had the good fortune to hear." The letter brought $16.

Also auctioned off was a fragile copy of the Oct. 17, 1807 Providence, R. I. Phenix, which used the old fashioned "S" that came out an "F."

Insurance Firm Asks $5,625 In 'Negligent' Fire

A New York insurance firm is trying to collect $5,625 damages from the estate of a Mill Valley woman who died in a fire last year, on grounds that she "negligently set fire" to the apartment.

Northern Insurance Co. is suing in Marin Superior Court against Richard John Silverman of Napa, son of the dead woman, Mrs. Helen Welch Gagetta.

Mrs. Gagetta perished in a fire at 216 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, on Nov. 5, 1963. An appraiser has valued her estate at $113,484, all in cash holdings in various banks in the Bay Area.

Mrs. Gagetta left her entire estate to her son, Silverman, and named his as executor.

Northern Insurance Co. claims $5,035 was spent to repair the burned apartment, $40 for cleaning and more than $550 of rental was lost.

Clausen Has Cold, To Return Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Del Norte), hospitalized since Friday to recover from a cold, expects to be back on a full work schedule Monday.

Clausen went to the Capitol from Washington Sanitarium in nearby Takoma Park, Md., yesterday to vote on the bill increasing social security benefits, but arrived a few mintues too late.

Dixie Candidate Avers Kennedy Backs His Foe

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. Senate candidate M. M. Bullard charged Wednesday night that Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy has raised money for the campaign of Rep. Ross Bass, also a Senate candidate, in return for Bass having voted for the civil rights bill.

Gov. Frank Clement is the third candidate in the race for the Democratic nomination to the remaining two years of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's term.

Bullard said reliable sources, whom he did not identify, told him "Bass received $30,000 from Kennedy a week ago."

Bullard, a Newport industrialist, said the money was collected in Washington and Boston and got to Tennessee through John J. Hooker Jr., a Nashville attorney whom Bullard described as a close friend of Kennedy.

Several days ago Bullard asked Kennedy to investigate Bass because, Bullard alleged, the congressman had abused his congressional franking privilege in the campaign. At another point in the campaign, Bullard charged that Clement backers were contributing to the Bass campaign.

"Bobby Kennedy has done enough damage to Tennessee by forcing this strong civil rights bill on us — it's even stronger than the late John F. Kennedy wanted," Bullard said. "I'm sure he (Robert Kennedy) made many promises to congressmen to help them out if they got in trouble back home after that bill—and if it's true, it looks like he's fulfilling at least one of his commitments."

Bass and Rep. Richard Fulton (D-Tenn.), were the only two members of Tennessee's congressional delegation to vote for the civil rights bill.

Woman Given Mother's Kidney

PALO ALTO (UPI)—A young Oroville woman has received the life-saving gift of a kidney from her mother in a pioneering operation at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Bell, 23, left the hospital yesterday, three weeks after the operation in which her diseased kidney was replaced by one from her mother, Mrs. Wilma Davis, 52, Oroville.

The initial operation took 15 minutes. It was followed by a series of tests to detect any signs that the body was rejecting the organ in order that it could be treated by newly discovered methods.

Lee Kaiser Says He Backs Murphy

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Leland M. Kaiser, an unsuccessful Republican U.S. Senate candidate in the primary, today threw his support behind the GOP nominee George Murphy in an attempt to assure California of its "rightful representation."

Kaiser and Murphy conducted a joint news conference at a downtown hotel this morning to announce a united Republican effort. Similar conferences were scheduled for later today in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"I have contacted 44 of my key chairmen and committee members from my primary campaign for the U.S. Senate nomination and am pleased to announce they are unanimously joining me in supporting George Murphy," said Kaiser.

Joint Conference Gets Pay Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House moved the big federal pay-raise bill closer to final passage today by voting to send it to a joint House-Senate conference.

Both the House and Senate have passed separate versions of the bill to raise the pay of federal workers and officials—including Congress members — and quick agreement on a compromise is expected.

CHINA SNUBS RUSS SUMMIT PROPOSAL

Peking Charges Moscow Plans Session To Split Communism

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist China has rebuffed a new Soviet attempt to arrange a conference of communist parties to deal with the Sino-Soviet split, it was disclosed today.

Shortly after it was learned here that the Soviet Union had asked the Chinese Communists and 24 other Red parties to meet on the split the New China News Agency disclosed the Chinese rejection.

The Chinese Communist Party Central Committee sent a letter to Moscow two days ago refusing to take part in such a meeting, the New China Agency said in a dispatch monitored in London.

"We will never take part in any international meeting, or any preparatory meeting for it, which you call for the purpose of splitting the international Communist movement," the Communist Chinese reply said.

Under the Soviet plan the 26-party session would have been preliminary to a full-scale meeting of the world's more than 90 Communist parties.

The Communist Chinese rejection of the proposal had been anticipated.

The bluntly worded Peking letter, containing 12,000 Chinese characters, was replying to a June 15 letter from the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee.

Addressing itself to "you revisionists" in Moscow, the Chinese letter said "now you want to convene a grand assembly for a split—rather it should be called a minor schismatic gathering.

"In relation to the total number of communists in the world, those who really believe in revisionism constitute only a small fraction and they are bound to come to grief."

U.S. Gives Timetable For Vietnam Buildup

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The bulk of the 5,000 additional U.S. troops being sent to South Vietnam will be there within the next three months, administration sources said today.

It will be six months, however, before the build-up is completed. Smaller contingents of support forces will make up the rear guard entering the country toward the end of the operation.

By January, if things go as planned, the United States will have more than 21,000 military men in the embattled country to assist the government in its effort to crush red guerrillas.

U.S. civilian advisers in South Vietnam by that time should amount to more than 1,000, if a current recruitment drive is successful—an increase of about 500 over the present level.

HINCKLEY, England (UPI) — The city council said today it had received 28 cents and a note that read: "As I was passing a city park last night I saw a beautiful rose and thought of a particular young lady. CAMPAGNOLE, France (AP)—Nine men trapped in a limestone mine in the Jura Mountains of eastern France spent their first comfortable night in three days as rescue teams drilled through to their position 300 feet below the surface of Mt. Revel.

Food and wine were lowered to the entombed miners Wednesday along with first aid supplies for those who were slightly injured by the cave-in Monday. Playing cards went down to help them pass the time.

Funeral Thief Suspect Is Bound Over

John Theodore Cynko, 45, suspected "funeral burglar," was bound over to superior court yesterday after a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Sgt. Robert L. Coppock of Belvedere police told Municipal Court Judge Harold J. Haley how he had staked out the Belvedere home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Phelan at 152 Bella Vista Avenue on July 9. The Phelans were away to attend the funeral of their daughter.

Sergeant Coppock said he heard Cynko knock, then enter the home. When Cynko noticed someone inside, he dashed out the front door, the officer testified.

Coppock said he shouted, "I'm a police officer. Halt or I'll shoot!"

The officer testified Cynko stopped and said, "I'm caught. You've got me. I won't give you any trouble."

Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer also called to the stand Mrs. Will Holloway, who lives in the same home as the Phelans. Mrs. Holloway was also at the home when Cynko entered. She said she heard knocking but did not answer the door. When he entered and saw her, he ran out, she testified.

San Francisco Printer Strike Nears Solution

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 11-month printers' strike in San Francisco neared its end today as all sides gathered in a meeting called to agree on a basis for settlement.

Mayor John F. Shelley got the sides together yesterday as fighting around printing plants started for the third day. After more than five hours of talks, Shelley announced the agreement without disclosing its details.

A court order had limited pickets from the International Typographical Union to six around any one of the 14 plants struck. But sympathy pickets from the Teamster's and other unions gathered around two of the plants and fights broke out.

Within one hour of Shelley's announcement, there were only seven pickets around Phillips and Van Orden, a printing firm at Fourth and Berry Streets, and scene of two days of fighting between employes and hundreds of pickets.

The ITU contended employers are using non-union printers and members of other unions to operate new machines.

Shelley called the dispute jurisdictional and said it was "the worst kind labor can have. The employers get caught in the middle."

The most recent fighting resulted in two minor injuries and three arrests, two for battery and one for drunkenness.

Colorado's nickname, Centennial, comes from the fact that the state was admitted to the union in 1876, 100 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Utility Firm Finances Enter Overhead Lines Controversy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A commissioner trying to settle a dispute over where to install power lines to a nuclear accelerator at Stanford University has called for additional data on Pacific Gas and Electric Co. finances.

State Public Utilities Commissioner William M. Bennett of Kentfield said at a hearing yesterday he wants to know how much the company stands to win or lose by placing the lines underground or overhead in the town of Woodside.

Woodside city officials want power lines to the Atomic Energy Commission's 114 million dollar nuclear accelerator installed underground. They say overhead lines will mar Woodside's scenery.

The catch is that subterranean lines cost about twice as much as aerial lines. And PG&E which is installing the cables for the AEC, doesn't want to pay the added expense.

But Woodside thinks PG&E should—which is why Bennett has requested additional information on its finances.

Physicist John K. Crosby of the Stanford Research Institute told the hearing that PG&E will gross 60 million dollars from the AEC in a six-year period.

A spokesman for the power company, engineer Frank E. Schulleroff, said underground lines might be installed for 2.4 million dollars.

It is estimated that overhead lines would cost 1.01 million dollars at most.

It is believed that paper was the invention of a high Chinese official who lived about 2,000 years ago. He used the beaten fibers of the inner bark of the mulberry tree matted together to form a white sheet.

'CARDIAC STEPS'

Library Meeting Room Criticized

Where should the board of trustees of a city library meet?

In Marin County, the boards of the Sausalito, Mill Valley, Larkspur, San Anselmo and San Rafael libraries all meet in their libraries.

Thomas Collison of 110 Myrtle Avenue, Mill Valley, believes the Mill Valley Library Board should meet in the city hall, and has so advised the librarian, Dorothy Thomas.

He suggests the board change its place of assembly "from the tiny, cramped, forbidding, unaccommodating children's room of the present library to the spacious city council chambers of city hall."

Collison, in a letter to the librarian, related that at the July 9 board meeting he was the only person in the audience and hinted that if the city hall were used, more persons would attend.

Persons must climb "49 cardiac steps from the sidewalk level" to the library, he said. (There are but 26 steps to the council chambers on the second story of city hall.)

He concedes that technically board meetings are "regular and open to the public," but adds there would be greater attendance at city hall meetings and this is especially important now that the board is discussing details and plans for the new library.

"The library board meetings are always open to the public," said Mrs. H. H. Fundenberg, board secretary, today. "We issue a general welcome to everyone to come."

She said there has never been a problem of having so many persons present that there not enough chairs in the teen-agers room, where meetings are held, but if there was a problem, the board could easily move upstairs into a larger room.

Mrs. Fudenberg said the board will discuss Collison's proposal at its meeting Aug. 13.

"We had not considered changing the location of the meeting place," she continued. "The library is set up under separate status by the state to be separate from city politics. It doesn't say we have to meet in the library but this has always been done . . . If public interest is great enough, we could go to the city hall.

Mental Health Gains Predicted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Boosted by increased state aid, California's community attack on mental illness will be greatly stepped up this year.

Dr. James V. Lowry, director of mental hygiene, said 26 cities and counties will invest nearly 20 million dollars in state and local funds for community-based mental health service during the 1964-65 fiscal year.

The program will be up from 20 and the amount nearly double last year's.

E. J. Guidotti Is Named To Bridge Board

E. J. (Nin) Guidotti, chairman of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors, was appointed by his fellow board members Tuesday as a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, effective next Dec. 1.

Guidotti, who will retire from the board of supervisors at the end of the year, will succeed Charles Reinking, Santa Rosa banker, on the bridge district board. Reinking has been a director of the bridge district since 1948.

The appointment came as a surprise at Tuesday's session of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors, since no action had been expected so far ahead of the end of Reinking's term.

A resolution of appointment had been prepared in advance and was introduced by Supervisor Arthur Ruonavanara. All five supervisors, including Guidotti, voted for the appointment.

Soviet Launch Cosmos No. 36

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched the 36th unmanned satellite in its Cosmos series today. Tass said the satellite carried scientific equipment for further study of outer space.

The Soviet news agency said Cosmos 36 made its first revolution of the earth in 91.9 minutes. Its greatest distance from earth was given as 314.3 miles and its closest point 161.8 miles.

Previous satellites in the 2-year-old Cosmos series have had much the same characteristics.

Body Is Identified As Sonoma Woman

A body found on the beach at Fort Cronkhite yesterday was identified as that of Mrs. Emma Barsi, 58, of Sebastopol, who leaped from the Golden Gate Bridge Monday night.

Identification was made last night at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley by the dead woman's husband and son, Angelo Barsi and Arthur William Barsi of Daly City.

Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley said the senior Barsi reported his wife had been despondent lately. She took a southbound Greyhound bus Monday from Sebastopol. She got out of the bus at the bridge toll plaza at 6:55 p.m. and was last seen alive by Thomas A. Christian and Mrs. Edward F. Clarke as she climbed the bridge railing near the south tower. Before the two northbound drivers could halt their cars she had disappeared.

The body was found on the beach at 11:30 a.m. yesterday by Mrs. J. P. Shally of Canyon, Contra Costa County, and some companions, Bradley reported.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Barsi had lived in California for 19 years. She was a retired food packer for a San Francisco bakery.

New Trial Denied In Sex Murder

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Superior Judge Joseph G. Babich yesterday denied a request for a new trial for Clarence Ashley, convicted slayer of a six-year-old girl in Merced County four years ago.

Ashley's attorney argued that Ashley was convicted with the help of an illegally obtained confession and was not given adequate counsel.

The judge noted that Ashley was offered a lawyer, but turned the offer down.

Ashley was convicted of the kidnap, rape and murder of Angie Mae Stewart. A jury sentenced him to death, but Gov. Edmund G. Brown, acting on a question of Ashley's sanity, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

U.S. Deputy's Hearing Behind Closed Doors

Both sides in a feud involving staff members of the San Francisco office of U.S. Marshal Edward A. Heslep, including Deputy Alexander F. Koenig of Novato, were heard behind closed doors yesterday by Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane.

His unnanounced visit was seen as a result of efforts to oust Koenig because of his complaints of electioneering by fellow staff members during last November's mayoralty campaign in San Francisco.

McShane arrived in San Francisco yesterday and spent five hours interviewing Heslep, Chief Deputy John L. Babcock, Koenig, and three other deputies.

He said he would report on the matter to Deputy U.S. Atty. Genl. Nicholas Kattzenbach on his return to Washington, and a decision on whether disciplinary action would be taken would be made in a few weeks.

Johnson Asserts Economy Bright

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson said today that economic and financial conditions are bright but his administration still is looking toward the future and giving a close look to heading off any renewed wage-price spiral or any slowdown of the economy.

He conferred on these and kindred matter today with top government executives, and then called a news conference.

Other subjects he touched on were:

Nuclear Tests — A year ago, nuclear test-ban agreement was signed and now has more than 100 nations adhering to it. But even were it ended tomorrow, Johnson said, we would be "safer than we were before." And he said we now live in a world in which "terror does not govern our waking lives."

OAS—The inter-American system, the president said, "made it abundantly clear that the Hemisphere will nott olerate aggression by subversion," in a final resolution adopted by the Organization of American States.

Defense Contracts — Johnson said efforts are under way to ease the impact of shifts in defense contracts around the country and that government programs and a strong economy are helping. Additional measures may be needed, he said, and the Defense Department is making a survey to pinpoint problems and remedies.

Federal Jobs — For the first time since the Korean War, Defense Department civilian employes number below the one-million mark. Johnson said the figure stood at 997,864 on July 1 — about 6,600 below the goal for that date. He credited reductions chiefly to closing military bases, improving productivity and reducing the hiring of foreign nationals.

Poole Appoints New Assistant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Richard Urdan, 36, has been named acting chief assistant U.S. attorney in charge of the Northern California district's criminal division.

Urdan, former Northwestern University basketball star and an assistant U.S. attorney since 1962, was chosen Wednesday for the post by U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole. Urdan previously specialized in income tax and mail fraud cases.

Urdan's new job is being vacated by Frederick Woelflen, who quit the $16,000 a year post to return to private practice.

Urdan, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., takes over his new duties Monday.

More Understanding Of Retarded Urged

Understanding of the problems of mentally retarded children was urged today by four Marin residents who attempted to allay fears of the more "normal" public.

The four appeared on "Marin Sounding Board" on radio KTIM in a discussion triggered by citizen opposition to a school for mentally retarded children proposed for Novato.

Guests on the program were Daryl Hopkins, Marin County schools' director of special services; Mrs. Sally Ryan of Terra Linda, president of the non-profit Marin Aid to Retardede Children group; Mrs. Daniel Collins of Mill Valley, chairman of the county Mental Health Advisory Board, and Mrs. Edith Kanoff of Novato, chairman of the special education committee of the Marin County Board of Education.

The four agreed the county should follow its precepts of educating and training mentally retarded children as close to their own community and "normal" peers as possible.

County supervisors who turned down use of the Novato site for a school, following strong citizen protest, offered the use of the former county hospital and farm in Lucas Valley for the school.

Hopkins, while praising supervisors for their years of backing programs for the mentally retarded, said that "to train in an environment of an institution" negates the aim of keeping mentally retarded children close to their home and community atmosphere.

He said the Lucas Valley facility probably would be used for the training for about two years, when the county hopes to gain a school in a centrally located area. He said that, though the home had been closed as "unsafe" for bedridden patients, it is safe for mentally retarded youngsters.

The aim of the school is to "teach mentally retarded how to be useful in their homes, in their communities," Mrs. Kanoff explained.

The community opposition in Novato to location of the school there was "somewhat of a shock and a letdown," she said. "The most shocking thing to me was that we have so far to go in educating the public."

"Uninformed and closed minds hamper development of the mentally retarded child," said Mrs. Collins.

The school in Novato would have been for trainable mentally retarded children from 12 through 16 years, with a few up to 18.

"Supervision, training and patience" is needed for both retarded and non-retarded children, Mrs. Ryan noted.

"These children belong in their own community," Hopkins said. They should not be "hidden away, buried in institutions."

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

She Planned Baths Ahead

BEREA, Ky. (AP)—Berea College often helps find accommodations for visitors who want to tour the campus.

Recently, a woman telephoned long distance to ask for rooms for three.

Same Birds Don't Always Sing Choruses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Birds of a feather don't always sing together, a study of several hundred thrushes, wrens and mockingbirds by an Ohio State University zoologist indicates.

Dr. Donald J. Borror analyzed recordings of the birds' songs with a sound spectrograph. He produced graphs which show variences in pitch, speed and frequency.

Montana Town Repeal Anti-Red Ordinance

BILLINGS (AP) — A 14-month-old ctiy ordinance to regulate sales of goods from Communist countries has been repealed by the Billings City Council.

Alderman James Patten said the licensing law was unconstitutional and carried no punishment for violators. The vote to repeal was unanimous even though four of the present councilmen voted for the bill November 1962.

Teamsters Talk Turkey On Beer

SEATTLE, Wash (UPI) — The teamsters union told California beer distributors today the products they handle will be put on the unfair list unless they sign a three-year contract already accepted by the state's breweries.

Notice was served by the 17-member policy committee of the western conference of teamsters which is meeting here. The committee adopted a resolution which pledged all-out support of the strike teamsters are waging against distributor who have refused to sign the agreement.

The committee said that all the breweries and about half of the distributors had signed.

Udall Sees Intertie As Bic Aid To West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said today "the West will probably have the most efficient electrical system in the world" when the proposed lines connecting Pacific Northwest and Southwest power facilities are completed.

He told a news conference an agreement announced yesterday by President Lyndon B. Johnson as paving the way for a start on the 700-million-dollar project was "a sound compromise."

Taxpayers Get Break On Property

Marin County supervisors are giving some taxpayers a break on property tax assessments during their marathon hearings as a board of equalization.

A random check of 50 rulings indicated that about 40 per cent of protesting taxpayers have ben granted reductions on either land, improvements or personal property.

The sampling revealed reductions ranging from one per cent to 44 per cent, with the majority around 10 per cent.

The 44 per cent reduction, only one of its kind, was granted to George Leonard of Los Altos, who owns ranch land in the Stinson Beach area.

Leonard's was reduced from $169,490 to $90,500 after he protested that 584 acres of grazing land had been appraised as development land. He argued that the land could not be developed now because there are no roads, water or sanitation facilities.

The board, swamped by last-minute protests, is about halfway through hearings on the 388 protests filed. The hearings will continue through Aug. 13, including night sessions and Saturday field trips.

Packaged Pizza Pies Being Made By Vail, Vidak In San Rafael

Manufacturing and wholesaling packaged pizza pies is the comparatively new business of Howard Vail of Fairfax and his one-time boss George Vidak (owner of Henry's Ol' Place, San Anselmo). It's called Howard's Famous Brands and is located at 819 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, utilizing the former kitchen of Di Pietro's.

Howard's has two pizza varieties—plain cheese and a combination with cheese, salami, mushrooms and ripe olives. They are on sale in many Marin County stores (newly opened Petrini's in Greenbrae has them) and they are starting to sell in San Francisco.

Coastal Bank Outbids East On Bonds

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A syndicate headed by the Bank of America bid successfully today to buy two California state bond issues totalling 100 million dollars.

Bank of America submitted low bids to State Treasurer Bert Betts for a 50-million-dollar state school building aid bond issue and a 50-million-dollar issue for general state construction.

The only other bidder was a syndicate headed by Bankers Trust Co. of New York, whose complex bid two weeks ago had led Betts to cancel the bids and delay the sale until today.

The Bank of American group offered an interest rate of 3.1906 per cent on the school bonds to 3.22006 for Bankers Trust, and 3.19433 per cent for the construction issue to 3.22367 by the New York group.

An aide to the treasurer said the interest cost to the state under the successful bid will be $24,195,727 on the school bonds and $23,957 on the construction bonds.

Loss Of Gold Not Worry It Was Year Ago

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest loss of U.S. gold in a year points up the troublesome fact that the battle of the deficits still isn't won. But the dollar's name is so good now that the 70-million-dollar gold drain in June, reported this week by the Federal Reserve Board, doesn't worry the money managers the way it would have a year ago.

Instead, most of the worry now is concentrated on still another crisis building up for the British pound sterling. And financial circles here as well as abroad wait anxiously to see if the Bank of England will prop the pound by raising interest rates again.

IDLE DOLLARS

This would add to America's deficit problem by tempting investors with idle dollars to ship them abroad to get higher yields than available here.

The American problem is that despite a surplus of exports over imports, the total outflow of dollars continues greater than the inflow. Last year the loss was 3.3 billion dollars. So far this year the deficit is estimated to have been cut to an annual rate of around 2 billion dollars.

In terms of gold this means that as these surplus dollars pile up abroad some of them can be turned in to the U.S. Treasury for gold, and our reserves drop.

The latest figures on this official reserve put it at 15.46 billion dollars, down only slightly from the year ago figure of 15.63 billion dollars.

LOSS IN JUNE

The June loss of 70 million dollars was in a special exchange stabilization fund, unreported in the official reserve figures. This special fund can draw on the official reserve when necessary, but its main purpose is to prevent wide swings either way in the value of the dollar in terms of other currencies as international payments vary from month to month.

Gold losses of the fund this year have been 56 million dollars in January, 22 million dollars in February, 34 million dollars in May and 70 million in June. But the fund gained by an inflow of 32 million dollars in gold in March and 177 million in April.

Market Analyst Sees Weakness Ahead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Richard T. Leahy, of J. W. Sparks and Co., says last week's decline did not come entirely as a surprise when the extent and duration of the long rise from the June lows is considered.

Over the near term, Leahy feels some further minor weakness might continue, but it should be confined to the 830-35 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average.

Undervaluation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vanden Broeck, Lieber and Co. sees both opportunities and dangers in the present market situation and suggests seeking out situations combining both accepted quality and undervaluation in terms of near and long term potentials.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed irregularly higher today with trading fast in the closing minutes.

The list remained on the upside throughout the session despite many soft spots.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.5 million shares compared with 4.05 million yesterday.

Calgon, up more than 3, continued to spurt on news of its 150 per cent stock dividend.

King-Seeley was up about 2. Gains exceeding a point were made by Bristol-Myers, United Artists and American Export Lines.

Olin-Mathieson raised the dividend and was about a point higher.

Westinghouse Electric was a bright spot, rising more than a point.

Moderate gains were made by General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors. Ford slipped fractionally.

In a scrambled rail section, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad held fair gains.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed; governments were mostly unchanged.

Airline Turns From Loss To Husky Profits

NEW YORK — Highest second quarter and record six month earnings in the 35 year history of Trans World Airlines have been reported by President Charles C. Tillinghast Jr.

Net earnings for the second quarter of 1964 were $12,172,000 or $1.81 per share while net profit for the first six months was $11,105,000 equal to $1.65 per share.

The second quarter figure nearly doubled the 96 cents per share earnings for the like period last year.

Evidencing TWA's 1964 financial progress, the first half net profit of $11,105,000 from total revenues of $260,667,000 represented a $14,868,000 improvement over 1963's first half loss after taxes of $3,763,000 on revenues of $216,444,000.

Sausalito's Classroom Integration 'Impossible'

State Aide Says Problem Must Get County Attention

By BRUCE COLEMAN

It is not possible to achieve de-segregation or integration in the Sausalito School District with the present population pattern, Wilson C. Riles told the school board last night in a report on the district's ethnic problems.

Riles, executive secretary of the State Department of Educaiton's commission on equal opportunities in education, said racial imbalance exists in the district, that 98 per cent of Marin's Negroes live in Marin City, that something should be done—preferably soon—or problems will increase.

It is a county problem, said Riles, not just a Sausalito School District problem.

Members of an audience of about 150 people at Bayside School reflected a strong sense of urgency by their questions.

Mrs. Magda Cregg of Mill Valley asked if Mill Valley School District could receive average daily attendance money from the Sausalito District assuming there are parents in Marin City willing to send their children to Mill Valley for schooling. She was told yes.

"Is the board going to appoint a committee?" asked John F. Gardenhire of San Rafael. "I expect the board to say it's a jolly report and then do nothing."

Edward W. Moose, representing Oak Knolls of Marin, developers in Marin City, asked Riles to comment on the possibility of detaching Manzanita School at Marin City from the Sausalito district and incorporating it with another school district.

Riles, all smiles, said: "This is a difficult question to answer . . . I would rather answer the question of whether, in view of the fact that racial imbalance cannot be corrected in the situation as it now exists, some scheme should be supported that would allow for greater flexibility. My answer to this would say I would encourage that some scheme be developed. It might be unification or transfer of students.

"I think we have to look at the other end of the scale also," said Riles, who is a Negro, "and not just that of the minority.

"Any child in this world, in this day, that grows up in a segregated situation, whether he is white or black, is not getting a good education. I'm cognizant of the interest here of the many who spoke tonight on wanting something done in the Sausalito district. But how many of you will go to Ross and Reed and Mill Valley and make this some point—not for the Negro children but for the Caucasian children and ask what they are doing to integrate the all white situation they have? And, until you do this in Marin County, you are not going to solve any problems."

Harold L. Sleight, president of the Sausalito board, said the 15-page report will be evaluated and the board plans to take action at its meeting Aug. 17. Other trustees made no comment.

Riles first explained in his report the special problems of the Sausalito district.

First, he said, it comprises three separate areas: the City of Sausalito, Marin City and the military fort area, each posing different educational problems.

Sausalito, a city of 6,100, is gaining population but losing pupils, while Marin City, with about 1,500, is losing population but gaining pupils. During fiscal 1963-64 Sausalito had 396 pupils in the district, Marin City 470, and the forts, 175.

Racial composition of the schools are as follows: Central and Bayside schools, 324 Caucasians, 40 non-caucasions; Manzanita, 19 Caucasians and 250 non-Caucasians; Richardson Bay, 207 Caucasians and 201 non-Caucasians.

Conclusions of the report are:

1. Racial imbalance exists.

2. Because of the high percentage of non-white pupils in the district, it is not possible to achieve an ideal ethnic balance in each school.

3. The staff found no evidence that there has been a deliberate attempt by the board of trustees to maintain or promote segregation, nor that inequitable educational opportunities have been consciously promoted.

4. "Amelioration of the effects of de facto segregation in the district can only be achieved by concentrated, creative and sensitive approaches to the educational problems within the district." Resolution of the problems will require facilities and resources from outside the local district. Cooperation of county, state and federal agencies, must be secured. Marin County, especially, has a major responsibility in assisting the Sausalito district in finding solutions to problems which were thrust on the local district by outside jurisdictions.

5. A deterioration in school-community communications has developed over a long period.

6. Since all children in grades 5 through 8 are housed at the Richardson Bay School, desegregation has been achieved at the middle and upper grade levels in the school district.

7. School housing in primary units (Central, Bayside and Manzanita) seems to be inadequate.

Riles made two major recommendations.

He suggested appointment of a citizens' advisory committee of 12 to 15 persons by the board, to make a thorough study of the educational needs of the district.

Second, an inter-school faculty committee should make a study of current school testing, pupil class assignment and curriculum practices.

The citizens' committee, he said, should examine equal educational opportunities, de facto school segregation, inter-group relations, school building needs, and school finance.

Riles suggested unification proposals should be considered, along with present school sites including a professional appraisal of their values, prospects for developing Richardson Bay into an "adequate single school" for all grades, possible closing of Central School, extension of compensatory programs for "educationally disadvantaged" pupils, and prospects for inter-district pupil exchange.

Douglas J. Quiett, chairman of the Marin Congress of Racial Equality, told Riles there is an ideal situation of equal balance of pupils at Richardson Bay School and asked if an equal footing might be given in Marin City.

"Yes, it's possible but I think it is doomed to fail," replied Riles. He said whites move out when the percentage of Negroes get up to 25 per cent.

Quiett said after the meeting, "We (CORE) will have a lot to say in a couple of days."

It was also pointed out, following a question from Fred Perry of Sausalito, that $10 in taxes is paid into the district per pupil from Marin City compared to about $400 per pupil from Sausalito.

The Sausalito School District has an open enrollment policy which means any pupil may go to any school if he provides his own transportation, said Marcus F. Davis, district superintendent.

Riles said there are an "unusual number of youngsters in the district going to private schools. I am not going to say they are going there because they are unhappy with Richardson Bay, because I have no way of determining this. It may be that they just like private schools."

House Debating Wilderness Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today began debate on a compromise bill to preserve the nation's wilderness. One member said the late President John F. Kennedy phoned him and urged its approvaly just prior to his fateful trip to Dallas.

Chairman Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.) said he was one of the last people in Washington to speak to Kennedy before he was assassinated on Nov. 22, 1963.

In 1961 Kennedy submitted legislation to congress that would set up a wilderness system protected from the encroachments of man.

Grand Jury Committee Talks To Educators

The education committee of the Marin Grand Jury met for three hours Monday afternoon at the Civic Center and will meet again on Aug. 10 and Aug. 24.

Jack Younger, chairman of the education committee, said about 20 persons, mostly educators, were present at this week's meeting of the committee. He said it was a "routine meeting" with discussion centered on "educational in general."

GRANDPA CAN REALLY DROP IN ON KIN

Grandpa came to visit "out of a clear blue sky"—literally—at the William G. Corrigan home in San Anselmo.

Grandpa Harold Parish, formerly of Sleepy Hollow, happens to own a helicopter, and Monday plopped it down in the middle of the Corrigan back yard at 109 Woodside Drive. He said he just wanted to visit his three grandchildren.

If you think the grandchildren were thrilled, you should talk to Mrs. Corrigan, who was taken for a ride by Parish's pilot.

"I was so excited I was shaking in my boots," she said.

Shop Owner Held For Benefit Fraud

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state today announced the arrest of a former San Francisco businessman accused of paying unemployment and disability taxes for two fictious employees and then collecting their benefits.

Arrested in San Francisco, according to the State Department of Employment, was John Donald Rossi, 48, also known as Jack Dunn Simmons. He operated the now defunct Haight Street Delicatessen.

The suspect was accused of grand theft amounting to $1,728.

Air Base Fete Open To Any Senior Citizen

The date is the 80th birthday of Manny Charnow, Marin's "Mr. Senior Citizen," but the occasion on Aug. 21 will be a party for all seniors at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Charnow made that clear today, saying he had been embarrassed by reports which made it appear the Air Force was permitting use of base facilities for a party for him.

He'll be the host. The senior will be the guests—all who want to go.

Tickets are available at the San Rafael Recreation Center at Fourth and Union streets, Charnow said. He also has tickets at his home, 162 Belvedere Street, Apt. 7, San Rafael.

Grab And Run At Eat And Run

A thief ran off with $575 from the safe at Eat and Run drive-in cafe in Kentfield between 1:30 and 2:30 a.m. today.

Sidna May Capps, cafe manager, told sheriff's officers she put the money in the safe, locked up and went home to Santa Venetia at 1:30 a.m. She then remembered that she had left some electrical equipment connected, and went back to the restaurant about 2:30 a.m.

As she drove up, she noticed the window to the women's washroom wide open and notified the sheriff's office.

Sgt. Edward McKamey and Deputy Sheriff Russell Hunt entered the cafe with her and discovered the safe burglary. The manager said the thief apparently knew the combination of the safe.

Pressure Suit No Good In Ocean

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — If a flier is forced down in the Arctic, the pressure suit which is his protection in high altitude flying will not shield him from the cold, a researcher says.

Capt. James H. Veghte of the Aerospace Medical Laboratories, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, says shelter and fire are essential. Special cold weather clothing should be donned to replace the pressure suit, he adds.

Eating Habits Could Be Reason For Giants Record Against Mets, Colts

Jack Hanley

PHILADELPHIA — Doc Bowman has a theory that may explain why the Giants are 12-11 with the Colts and Mets, only one over .500 against the two tailend clubs of the National League.

"It's all that stuff they eat," said the Giant team trainer, referring to a tasty clubhouse spread that hospitable Houston provides for all visiting clubs.

"They don't eat the barbecued spareribs until after the game," said Eddie Logan, the Giant clubhouse manager.

"Maybe not the spareribs," said Doc, "but athletes shouldn't eat anything before a contest, that is, not for at least four hours before a contest. I've seen them nibbling in Houston and also in New York where there is a big refrigerator loaded with cold cuts."

Doc didn't mention Willie Mays' recent stomach upset in Candlestick Park but Logan recalled it.

"Maybe I was to blame for that," said Logan. "But I didn't think fresh fruit would do any harm."

"Fresh fruit," said Doc, "can be difficult to digest, especially if it is not ripe."

Perhaps the plum Mays ate in Candlestick was green but regardless of that fact he did suffer a man-sized bellyache and it forced him out of the game.

"Food needs four hours to digest," said Bowman. "I remember during my early days with hockey teams that you could always tell whether the men were skating on heavy stomachs."

Mays is one athlete who keeps in training the year 'round and the plum incident in Candlestick was a rare exception of Willie eating anything immediately preceding a game.

"When goodies are temptingly laid out on a table they are difficult to resist," said Bowman. "I know Willie is a model for other athletes in his training and eating habits. But it just goes to show that even Willie can forget. Athletes must have light stomachs to perform at their best."

Alvin Dark long has known this. One of his first acts as manager of the Giants was to banish from the Giant clubhouse sandwiches and cakes. In their place he substituted soup and crackers which has been the Giant luncheon menu since 1961—at home and on the road—except when the team visits Houston.

There is only one more trip to Houston this year. It will be interesting to see whether soup is substituted for spareribs.

Vikings Gridder Seriously Injured

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Franckhauser, a 27-year-old defensive back for the Minnesota Vikings, was saved from death by a dramatic emergency operation at Bemidji, Minn. last night in which the time factor was c r u c i a l. He had suffered a brain injury in an afternoon scrimmage.

Franckhauser, who previously played with the Dallas Cowboys and Cleveland Browns, was reported improved, but still in a critical condition after the operation performed by Dr. William DeWeese.

Dr. Kent Olson, a neurosurgeon from Minneapolis called in for consultation, said Franckhauser's condition is "as good as anyone could possibly hope for under the circumstances. In cases like these, of course, you have to worry about complications. But he responds to stimuli and the outlook seems good."

"In these cases it's just a matter of minutes," Dr. Olson continued. "The time factor was crucial in this case and they relieved it in time." He referred to the pressure caused by a broken blood vessel.

Franckhauser was removed from the critical list this morning. Dr. Don Hoganson, a Bemidji physician working with the Vikings, described Franckhauser's condition as serious but improving rapidly.

Attendants said he had rested during the night and things seemed to be going well.

Franckhauser awakened early this morning and recognized his wife, Beverly, who had flown to Bemidji from her parents home in Dallas. He spoke to her briefly and then was given additional sedative.

The injury followed by only three days Sunday night's auto accident that killed two Chicago Bear players, Willie Gallimore and John Farrington.

Franckhauser, a former Purdue University player in his third year with the Vikings, tackled rookie fullback Bill McWatters of North Texas State hard in the scrimmage.

Viking Officials said he got up slowly and said he was all right. He collapsed a few plays later and was taken to the hospital when he complained of being dizzy.

Elsewhere, the professional football teams in both the National and American Leagues stepped up the tempo of their drills with the opening of the exhibition season only a week hence.

Ed Burke, offensive guard for the Houston Oilers, was scheduled to undergo surgery today for ruptured knee ligaments. And Buddy Dial, Dallas Cowboy end, is to undergo an operation soon to repair a torn muscle in his right thigh.

In other developments, end Art Powell reported to the Oakland Raiders eight days late while Bert Coan, star halfback,

McCovey Is Quiet Hero; Hendley Pitches Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"You never know about this game," commented Manager Alvin Dark as he savored the fruit of a victory fashioned by a guy who got in the game by "accident."

Dark was talking in the San Francisco Giants' clubhouse after last night's 10-inning 6-3 victory over Philadelphia, which cut the first place Phils' margin over the runner-up Giants to a half-game.

He referred to a sullen looking Giant toweling himself next to a locker surrounded by writers. It was Willie McCoyey, 6-foot-4 outfielder-first baseman who has had a rough time of it in 1964.

McCovey was languishing in the San Francisco dugout last n i g h t when O r l a n d o Cepeda complained of an aching right shoulder.

X-rays of Cepeda's right shoulder were negative but the Giants' slugger will miss two or three games because of muscle soreness, a club spokesman said today. It was announced that Cepeda hurt himself swinging in the second inning. However, he said later it happened in the first inning on a throw to pitcher Juan Marichal who was covering first on a grounder hit to Cepeda.

"It's not that McCovey might not have played," explained Dark. "He might have been used as a pinch hitter, but not for Cepeda. And he wouldn't have been hitting in Cepeda's spot in the line-up."

But, as Dark agreed, when you're fighting for a pennant, these are the little things, the unknown things, that win games. It looked dark for Dark when Cepeda winced in pain. But McCovey eased the pain for both the manager and the man he replaced with his clutch hitting.

The first time up, as a pinch hitter for Cepeda, McCovey struck out. He looked like the disappointing .203 hitter he has been most of the season. But it was different in the eighth with Willie Mays at third and two out, the Giants trailing 3-2.

The big fellow laced a drive to dead center field over the head of Tony Gonzalez, bouncing close to the 447-foot sign. You can't hit them any further and stay in Connie Mack Stadium at that point, the deepest in the ball park. Mays scored easily with the tying run.

Then in the 10th, with an old nemesis on the mound for Philadelphia, Jack Baldschun, McCovey came up with the bases loaded and one out Baldschun ran the count full and McCovey slashed a single through the boy tand into center field, scoring two runs and icing the game for Juan Marichal.

McCovey, not to anxious to converse, muttered something like "none at all" when asked if he has had much luck with Baldschun in the past. The slugger said he had no answer for his hitting problems.

"I've been swinging and hopping they'll fall in. Nothing else you can do," he said. "I've been going so bad I didn't think any-

Rookie third baseman Jim Ray Hart kept the Giants in the game with two solo home runs, his 16th and 17th of the season.

A few seats away, Marichal was saying how he was "glad" to beat the Phillies, the only club in the league the 15-game winner hadn't m a s t e r e d this season until last night. He said it was particularly pleasing, "because they are first and we have to catch them."

Giants Now Trail Phils By ½ Game

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

You're Dennis Bennett, the Philadelphia Phillies' hard - throwing young left-hander. Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco's slugging first baseman is at bat.

Now be careful, whatever you do, don't strike him out. It's liable to lead to trouble.

Bennett fanned Cepeda in the second inning of last night's 6-3 Giant victory over Philadelphia and it led to Willie McCovey. For the Phillies, that meant nothing but trouble.

Cepeda wrenched his right shoulder chasing Bennett's pitches and had to leave the game in the top of the sixth inning. Giant Manager Alvin Dark inserted McCovey, who's been fighting a season-long slump and the move paid off handsomely.

McCovey looked like the same old .203 hitter striking out in the sixth but in the eighth, his two-out double scored Willie Mays with the tying run as the Giants pulled even at 3-3.

Two innings later the Giants had loaded the bases against Phillie relief ace Jack Baldschun. McCovey worked the count full and then rapped a two-run single up the middle putting the Giants on top to stay.

Sharing the hero - roles with McCovey were Juan Marichal whose four-hitter throttled the Phillies and Jim Ray Hart, who belted a pair of solo homers to balance circuits by Richie Allen and Ruben Amaro in the early innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh beat Houston 5-2, St. Louis whipped Chicago 9-1 and Milwaukee turned back Cincinnati 6-2. New York and Los Angeles were rained out.

Roberto Clemente, the NL's leading hitter, raised his average to .345 with two hits and drove in a pair of runs in the Pirates' victory. Bob Friend went the distance for his ninth win in 19 decisions and his batterymate, Jim Pagliaroni, belted a home run.

Houston's Dick Farrell, who hasn't won in six weeks, lost his seventh against 10 victories.

Farrell became the m a j o r leagues' first 10-game winner June 14 and has failed to win in 10 starts since then.

St. Louis sent 12 batters up in a seven-run seventh inning to rout the Cubs. The splurge came against Lew Burdette, Bobby Shantz and Lindy McDaniel, all former Cardinals.

Curt Simmons didn't allow up his 11th victory as the Cardinals won their fifth straight.

The Braves jumped on Joe Nuxhall for five quick runs in the first inning and that was all Tony Cloninger needed to coast to his 10th victory. Joe Torre's two-run double was the key hit in the big inning.

Chico Ruiz, brought up from San Diego last week, drove in both Reds' runs with a single and a double.

Little Giants Win 18-6

A wrecking crew, in the person of the Tacoma Giants, went to work on Portland's Multnomah Stadium l a s t n i g h t. When the demolition j ob was done, the Giants had an 18-6 Pacific Coast League victory and there were some dents in the outfield fences.

The Giants exploded for 25 hits, including five by Dick Dietz, who doubled home a pair of runs in the first inning. Jay Ward hit a grand slam homer in the fourth and Carl Boles added a two-run homer in the same inning.

San Franciscan Leads U.S. Junior Golfers

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Steady John Miller of San Francisco led the nation's junior golfers into the first round of match play today in the annual United States Golf Association tournament for boys under 18.

Miller won the qualifying medal with rounds of 71-68—139, three under par at the Eugene Country Club where par is 37-34—71.

Only one other player beat par — Vincent Glowacki of La Marque, Texas, who shot 69-72—141.

The next closest players were two Californians — Bob Archer of Glendale and Jerry Heard of Visalia, who were tied at 143, one over par for the two days of qualifying play.

Of the 150 starters, 64 qualified for match play. The boys now will play two matches a day through Saturday.

Defending champion Greg McHatton, Whittier, Calif., also qualified. He had 145 and met Ross D. Bartschy, Columbus, O., in the first round. Bartschy had 152.

It took a score of 155 or lower to qualify.

Ralston Advances In Net Tourney

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) —The thermometer hit 95 and there was humidity to match at the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships yesterday, but Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., Davis Cupper, and Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., Wightman Cup heroine, led a general advance of seeded players into the quarter-finals.

But Ralston had to sweat a bit for his victory over Bill Lenoir, a crewcut blond from Tucson, Ariz. Dennis won the first set 6-1 but lost his service in the 10th game of the second set and had to fight off a Lenoir rally in the final game before closing out the match at 8-6.

No. 2 seed Frank Froehling, Davis Cup team member from Coral Gables, Fla., was stomping around the court talking to himself on some of the Hindu rope trick shots pulled off by India's Premjit Lall. But he unlimbered his big serve and a well-placed second service often enough to pull the match out 6-4, 8-10, 6-4.

Defending champ Gene Scott, No. 3 seed from St. James, N.Y. teetered on the brink of elimination to lefty Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., before he recovered his concentration to win 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., Clark Graebner, Beachwood, Ohio, Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill. and Charles Pasarell, Puerto Rico, also reached the round of eight.

Yankees' Bouton Bops Angels 5-0

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Somewhere over a barrel was where you could've found Jim Bouton before the season started. Now he can be found stuffing the Los Angeles Angels into one.

Bouton, the New York Yankees' determined pre-season holdout, stopped Los Angeles 5-0 on four hits l a s t n i g h t, extending his scoreless inning string over the Angels to 37.

The victory was Bouton's 11th against eight defeats, making him the second biggest winner for the American League leaders. Whitey Ford is the biggest with 12.

Bouton, remaining at home in New Jersey, wanted a 100 per cent increase in salary to $20,000 for his 21-7 performance in 1963. New York offered a top figure of $18,000

Then, General Manager Ralph Houk issued Bouton an ultimatum: Either he report to spring training camp or have $100 per day lifted from his pay.

Finding no other way out, Bouton gave in.

It wasn't until May 24 that he faced Los Angeles for the first time. The Angels didn't waste any time jumping on him for three runs in the first inning. They haven't done much jumping since, unless it's been from a dugout roof.

All of the h i t s off him last night were s i n g l e s and he let only one Angel past first base.

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore outlasted Minnesota 4-3, Detroit nipped Chicago 3-2, Boston edged Kansas City 3-2 and Washington downed Cleveland 4-1 in 12 innings.

The Yankees grabbed a 3-0 lead against starter Bo Belinsky, with two runs scoring in the second on Jim Fregosi's two-base throwing error and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly and another coming home on Mickey Mantle's single in the third. Elston Howard drove in the last two with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

The Orioles remained one game behind the Yankees in the AL race. Homers by Sam Bowens, with one on in the third, and Norm Siebern, none on in the seventh, supported clutch relief pitching by Harvey Haddix and Stu Miller. Harmon Killebrew slammed his 35th homer, a two-run blast, in the fourth.

Detroit came from behind on Gates Brown's eighth-inning two-run homer off Frank Baumann, who replaced starter Ray Herbert after Al Kaline singled with one out. Until that inning, Herbert had a four-hitter. Norm Cash homered for the Tigers in the seventh while Gerry McNertney connected for Chicago in the top of the inning.

Don Lock drove in all of the Senators' runs in their 12-inning victory. He homered in the sixth, then crashed a three-run blast off Gary Bell in the 12th.

Jim Gentile clouted a two-run homer for the A's in the fifth, and Carl Yastrzemski tied the game with a homer in the Boston eighth.

Art Powell Shows Up In Raider Camp

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Art Powell, somewhat poorer and with little to say, was scheduled to work out with the Oakland Raiders today for the first time this year.

Powell, on the All-American Football League team last season, showed up yesterday for the first time since the Raiders opened up training camp July 20.

Powell had moved his family from Richmond, Calif., to Toronto. He had no comment about his tardiness.

Coach Al Davis said Powell would pay an u n d i s c l o s e d amount for every day missed.

"Players are late in reporting for various reasons," Davis said. "And we understood his problems. But, nevertheless, he was still late.

"There are rules and regulations set up by the club to cover lateness and Powell is under the same rules as everyone else," Davis said.

Marin Colt Team Loses

The Twin-Cities Colt League all-Stars from Central Marin will be hoping to avenge last night's loss when they take on Ukiah tonight in tournament play in Healdsburg. Tonight's game is slated for 6:30.

Last night the Colts from Marin lost to the Redwood Empire team 5-4, all five of the winning runs scoring because of errors, both physical and mental.

Jim Garrett, the losing pitcher, went the distance, allowing only five hits and walking only two. Hitting star for Marin was Don Robi with a home run and two singles.

Happy 74th Birthday To Amazing Mr. Stengel

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It would have been impossible to foretell back in 1910 that Charles Dillon Stengel, known to millions of baseball fans today as Casey, would some day become a big league manager, let alone one of the most successful who ever lived.

As a busher in Maysville, Ky., in the Blue Grass League, he was better known as a clown than as a ball player. He wore loud ties with his baseball uniform and he insisted on practicing sliding as he trotted to his position in the outfield.

There was an insane asylum near the park across from the center field fence and the inmates always cheered when they saw him slide. Casey's manager used to tap his head, point to the asylum and say: "It's only a matter of time, Stengel."

Gags and all, Stengel has outlasted all his 1910 contemporaries. As a player, he lasted 15 years and was a star in the 1923 World Series. It was as a manager that he earned undying fame. The Old Professor was 74 years old today, give or take a year and depending on which record book you believe and every one of his years, 54 in baseball, has been crammed with vibrant living.

He is completing his third year as manager of the National League doormat New York Mets after having won 10 pennants and seven world championships in 12 years as manager of the New York Yankees.

A very complex, amazing, irascible and wonderful personality is the gnarled, wordy man who has had a running feud with silence for more than three score and ten years.

A unique symbol of the game to millions, he has his own special language, his own inimitable mannerisms and his own rules on managing. He has been praised and criticized, gloried and ridiculed.

He has the appearance of a shaggy St. Bernard but is a gentleman of social graces. He has been called a clown, yet he is a bank president. He has been accused of butchering the English language but his opinions on a myriad of subjects are listened to with respect.

He is a man who can bewilder and bemuse a Senate Committee with an astonishing assortment of sentences which defy analysis, yet can be as lucid as a crystal when so inclined.

So much has been written about this man that he has become a baseball legend. He is a natural born comedian but behind his clownishness is a baseball brain second to none in wisdom.

On and off, Stengel has been managing baseball teams since 1926. How much longer he will continue as a manager is problematical. He shrugs off any direct query as to his future with the retort: "Most men my age are dead by now."

He is well fixed financially and at around $100,000 a year, he must be the highest paid manager in the history of the game. But no man is more dedicated to the game.

One thing is certain. Shea Stadium, the Mets, the National League, all of baseball, will never be the same when Casey is gone.

Tiburon Swimmers Are Churning Up Pool

Five members of the club have already completed 50 miles and are working for 100. Art Cushing is currently leading the field with 71 miles. Mrs. Peggy Coombs and William Johnstone closely trail Cushing.

First youngsters to complete the 50 miles were Tommy Pickett and Eric Raynor, both 8. They swam the biggest part of their marathon together and finally totaled 50 miles Sunday afternoon.

Other club members nearing the 50-mile goal are Mrs. Kay Rayner, 43 miles; Mrs. Madeleine Rand, 34 miles, and Mrs. Jo Anne Drejes, 25 miles. Youngsters in front are Carol Clements, 9, 30 miles; Vicky Von Lackum, 9, 30 miles; Linda Locati, 12, 30 miles; Brenda Johanson, 9, 28 miles, and Gail Von Lackum, 13, 25 miles.

The 120 members participating in the program have totaled 1,092 miles for an average of 9.16 miles per person. That's a lot of laps in the 25-yard pool, 78,678 to be exact, says Cal Riemcke, College of Marin basketball coach who is working this summer as manager at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

49ER DOC WILL TAKE LOOK

Mira's Arm Hurts

MORAGA, Calif. (AP)—Team physician Dr. Lloyd Milburn was in Chicago today to look at George Mira, the San Francisco 49ers' second draft choice, quarterback.

But Mira, the ex-Miami star, said over the phone from Evanston, Ill., that he didn't think injury to his throwing arm too serious.

Mira is working with the College All Stars for their game on Aug. 7 with the Chicago Bears at Soldier Field.

"I figured that the club would be a little concerned," Mira said. "But I'm not in too bad a shape. It's just a slight muscle pull underneath the right armpit.

"It does hurt when I throw the ball, but I can throw. I can throw long, too. But I haven't been doing that because I didn't want to irritate the injury.

"All I need is a couple days rest and it'll be all right," Mira concluded.

Meanwhile, back at the 49er St. Mary's training camp, coach Jack Christiansen said that if it's found that Mira can't play with the collegians then "there would be no use keeping him back there. Might as well send him back to us."

Whoever is going to be the 49er quarterback this season would have tasted dirt even before the first exhibition game.

Christiansen has been allowing pass rushers to get to the quarterbacks in practice. Normally, they pull up short. But the coach doesn't want any bad habits to be developed subconsciously.

Sparked by J. D. Garrett, a rookie halfback from Grambling the Boston Patriots regulars whipped the rookies 33-6 in an intrasquad game. Tom Brown, the former Maryland star who quit the Washington Senators baseball team, caught a 15-yard touchdown pass from Paul Hornung in the Green Bay workout.

Rookie back Dick Drummond broke loose for a 75-yard scoring run in a Washington Redskins' scrimmage while Roman Gabriel completed 12 of 25 passes for 171 yards in the Los Angeles Rams workout.

Guard John Gordy and end Darris McCord signed with the Detroit Lions while the Pittsburth Steelers cut backs Herb Blackshear and Tom Manny.

Fine Deer Hunting Is Forecast In Aug. 8-Sept. 20 Coast Season

STEVENS

Because so many of my readers are anticipating a good deer hunt this year, and may have difficulty in selecting the area to try their luck, I am submitting herewith a brief summary of prospects by counties in the central coast area of California.

The concensus of regional game managers and game wardens in the field is that the 1964 early deer season opening Aug. 8 and continuing through Sept. 20 will mark a turning point in the kill trends for the central coast area counties. In other words, these experts predict a downward trend in most counties north of San Francisco Bay and a rise in the deer take in most counties south of the Bay Area. There is, however, still a high population of adult deer in the counties lying north of the bay and they expect another good hunting season throughout that general area. The experts believe the buck kill will be somewhat below that of last year in the counties of Mendocino, Lake, Napa and Sonoma. They expect about the same take as last year in the counties of Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, Santa Clara, and Santa Cruz. They predict a slight increase over last year's kill in the counties of San Mateo and San Benito with a substantial increase this year in Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties.

The Department of Fish and Game noted that good hunting weather coupled with passable back-country roads add up to the kind of access and sustained hunting efforts it takes to produce a good buck kill.

Now for the county by county forecast:

MENDOCINO — This county's buck kill is expected to drop somewhat below the take of 1963. Mild winters and good growing conditions over the last four years has resulted in high survival and steady upward climb in deer numbers that peaked in 1963. The public lands open to the unattached hunter are the Mendocino National Forest in the Northwest corner of the county, Jackson State Forest between Willits and Fort Bragg, and the Cow Mountain Recreation Area are expected to produce a fair number of kills.

LAKE COUNTY — Best bets for this county are judged to be Mendocino National Forest with most of the large, trophy bucks in the high summer ranges. Also the Boggs Mountain State Forest east of Cobb and Hobergs should produce but deer will be hard to find.

NAPA — This county also expected to furnish fewer deer than last year. (The only public hunting is in the Hunting Creek Area west of Knoxville).

SONOMA — All of Sonoma County's deer range is on private lands, but most of it is open to public hunting.

MARIN—In spite of the fact that some additional lands have been removed from the hunting picture this county's 1964 buck kill is expected to exceed the past five-year average.

CONTRA COSTA, ALAMEDA, SANTA CLARA — The 1964 kill in these three counties is expected to be about the same as that of 1963. Throughout this general area poor forage conditions have resulted in serious fawn losses.

SAN MATEO, SANTA CRUZ—Generally speaking these counties are expected to yield a better than average buck kill. Los Padres National Forest in Monterey County is open to public hunting but a fire permit from the U.S. Forest Service is required before entry into most of the forest area.

The Hunter-Liggett, Camp Roberts and Fort Ord military reservations are open to public hunting on a limited basis, permit is required.

Due to the dryness of brush and timber extra precaution must be taken against fire.

BIG TIME GOLF'S NEW FACES

Lema Bubbles—Like His Champagne

(Third in series)
By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm third on the money-winning list but first on the money-spending list," Champagne Tony Lema told the dour Scots at St. Andrews.

The Scotsmen didn't laugh. They take their golf seriously. They don't react to light quips. They react only to tee shots that bore through the wind like cannon blasts and irons that fly at the pin as if drawn by an unseen magnet.

They loved him. They loved his golf and they loved his sparkling personality, which bubbled like his champagne. They christened him the "Jolly Yank."

They lifted him to a pedestal beside Ben Hogan, the "Wee Ice Mon" they came to adore after he won their championship on the first try at Carnoustie in 1953.

Lema, 30, a tall, good-looking ex-Marine from the little town of San Leandro, Calif., didn't have to win the British Open to establish himself as one of the most exciting figures in modern day golf. It merely embellished the image.

TONY LEMA
Jolly Yank

Before flying to Scotland, Lema was the hottest player on the American tour. He had won four tournaments—two more than any other player—and had pocketed first prize money in two $100,000 events, the Thunderbird and Cleveland Open.

He was pushing Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer for the year's money winning honors and at the same time building up a tremendous fan club with his natural, champagne-like effervescence.

The champagne gimmick helped. Tony was playing in the Orange County Open in California in 1962 when he passed some reporters drinking beer. "If I win, I'll spring for champagne," he said.

He won, and he did. It's become a trademark.

So has his casual light humor and cocky brashness, reminiscent of the great Walter Hagen.

Lema returned from Scotland, dangling a fancy white and gold cigarette holder from his lips—"little gift from the Duke of Windsor." He dropped kidding remarks about "these difficult American courses" and greeted his boyhood chum, Venturi, with the British-accented comment: "Oh, you must be the chap who won that American tournament."

For all his clowning, Tony has proved himself also a craftsman—with the boldness of a pirate and the nerve of a burgler.

In the Thunderbird, Mike Souchak was about to steal the tournament from right under his nose when Lema stoned a wedge shot next to the pin on the 71st hole to clinch it. At Cleveland, he missed an 18-inch putt on the final hole and then beat Palmer in a sudden death playoff.

On the final day of the British Open at St. Andrews, Lema lost eight shots to a charging Nicklaus in the first six holes of the morning round, steadied and cut the props from under his pursuer by firing five straight three.

"That lad has real mettle," said the admiring Scots.

Lema came into golf without the amateur or early tournament background of most of his rivals. He got a job as a professional's assistant shortly after getting out of the Marines in 1955. He drifted into the tour and survived for a few years with the backing of businessmen friends.

A classic swinger who is long off the tee and very accurate with his irons, Lema had five lean seasons, never winning more than $12,000, until his game suddenly jelled in the summer of 1962. Last year he collected $67,112.52.

Lema scorns long practice sessions and plotting of courses on a notebook, such as Jack Nicklaus does. He just tees the ball up and whales away, accepting the bad with the good. "I learned a long time ago it doesn't help to worry," he says.

TIBURON AND NOVATO

Semi-Finals Tonight In Little League Tourney

Sausalito will take on Twin-Cities in Tiburon and Novato will host Hamilton-Loma Verde in the semi-final games of the California District 3 Little League All-Star tournament tonight, both games starting at 6 o'clock.

The game at Novato will be broadcast by radio station KTIM with John Pagliaro and Joe Behm handling the play-by-play. KTIM will also broadcast the championship game Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Wagner Field in Larkspur.

The losers of tonight's games will meet Saturday at 1 p.m. in a consolation game, the first half of a twin bill. The winners of the semis will face each other after the consolation tilt at 3, both games in Larkspur.

The champion team of District 3, which covers Marin County, will then move on to the sectional tournament to be held this year in Concord, Aug. 6 through 8.

Sausalito advanced to the semi-finals after nipping Mill Valley American 3-2 in a quarter-final game, its first game of the tourney after drawing an opening round bye. Twin-Cities won its opening round game over Strawberry 3-2, and then won the quarter-final tilt 7-1 over Tiburon.

Novato, displaying the power of the tourney, beat Gallinas Valley 11-5 in the opener and then dumped Marinwood 12-2. Hamilton-Loma Verde beat San Rafael National 3-2 and then won another one-run game over San Geronimo in the quarter-finals, 2-1.

TOBACCO HELPS BARRY—Tobacco farmer Frank Morgan, right rear, holds up sign advertising that proceeds from his first pile of tobacco, auctioned today at Vidalia, Ga., would be donated to Goldwater campaign. The "gold leaf" flue-cured tobacco weighed in at 146 pounds, and was snapped up for $1.25 a pound, about twice the going rate, boosting the presidential candidate's campaign coffers by $182.50.

Barry Goes West For Short Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater headed west for a short vacation today, leaving a newly reinforced staff to begin the detailed planning for his campaign to win the White House.

He planned to fly by private plane to San Francisco and then to motor about 80 miles north to Bohemia Grove, the summer encampment of the prestigious Bohemian Club.

Goldwater was scheduled to make the feature speech at the last nightly program of the encampment on Saturday, then join his family at Balboa Bay in Southern California for a holiday. He planned to return to Washington late Wednesday for the first of two "unity breakfasts" with Republican congressmen.

Yesterday, the Arizona Senator announced that his top rival for the presidential nomination, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, would host a "summit" unity meeting at Hershey, Pa., in mid-August.

Among those expected at Hershey are former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and 16 Republican governors, including Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and George W. Romney of Michigan.

Goldwater said after a meeting with GOP congressional leaders yesterday that he was "very, very pleased and gratified" at progress toward party unity since the San Francisco convention.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., said in a joint statement that "a moral reawakening of America is at hand—let us all arise to join it."

But Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), a candidate for re-election, said after the meeting that he was "holding in abeyance" a final decision on whether to support Goldwater.

Scott said he would run his own campaign in Pennsylvania independently of the national ticket, adding, "I'm a moderate and I'm proud of it.

Vice presidential candidate Rep. William E. Miller announced yesterday that he had accepted an invitation from Scranton to make his first major campaign appearance at Harrisburg Aug. 7 to address a Republican leadership meeting.

"We will do everything we can to help the full Republican ticket in Pennsylvania, as we will in every state in the country," Miller said.

Some Fence Donated For Bear's Cage

Ten feet of chain link fence was donated for Teddy's cage today at the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, San Rafael.

Teddy, a California brown bear, only needs 20 more feet to complete the cage, according to Mrs. Clara Evans, educator at the museum. Mrs. Evans did not know the identity of today's donor, but she believed it was someone who lives near the museum.

Hit-Run Victim Is Still Unconscious

Robert G. Miller, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Miller of 30 Corte Loyola, Greenbrae, remained unconscious and in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital, 21 days after he was struck by a car while bicycling on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Peter Gottheiner, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn., has asked for contributions to a special fund created by the group to aid the boy's family.

The youngster's condition has changed but little since the July 9 accident in which he suffered a broken pelvis and left leg, head injuries and multiple cuts and bruises.

Crash Victim Mends

Dr. William B. Ryder Jr., 58, of 48 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered Monday when his car went off an embankment on Waldo Grade. The Belvedere physician suffered fractures of the ribs and collar bone and multiple bruises.

Part-Time Farmer Boasts Pheasant-Chicken Cross

The result: the "Mongolian chick-sant."

"I've never heard of such a thing," Edio Delfino, El Dorado County agricultural commissioner, said when told of the mating.

Leon Bush, 38, a linoleum layer who lives on a 132-acre fowl ranch, said he tried for a year before he got a Mongolian ringneck pheasant to mate with a certain red hen.

He says three chicks have hatched and he has 48 more eggs.

The chicks have chicken bodies with pheasant markings, he said.

Burglars Loot Hub Automatic Laundry

Burglars forced the locks on several coin operated clothes dryers at Speedy Wash, 118 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, yesterday and stole approximately $58 from them.

The theft was reported to police at 6:15 p.m. and had apparently occurred since 5:30 a.m. when the business opened.

Goldwater Sons Talk About Safety Measures For Dad

HONOLULU (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's sons disclosed yesterday that extra security measures have been taken to protect the GOP presidential candidate against any possible assassination attempt.

Barry Jr., 26, a broker, and Michael, 24, a banker, said as they wound up a Hawaiian vacation that the family was "truly fearful" of an attempt on Goldwater's life.

"Extra security precautions have been taken," Barry said. "But we know that there is always the possibility that someone may make the attempt to kill dad. It's just one of those things we have to live with."

Michael added that President John F. Kennedy had been "all things to all men — yet he was assassinated."

"We have the most loyal, devoted fervent workers helping our father, and by the same token we have the most rabid and venomous people dedicating themselves to his defeat," said Barry. "It is not a good situation. All we can do is hope for the best end."

Mill Valley Girls Visit David Reeds

Merilou Holden and Lois Clymer, both of Mill Valley and juniors at Tamalpais High School, took off yesterday morning on a long planned for trip.

They went by jet to visit the David Reeds and their children for two weeks in New York. They will go first to Washington, D.C., and then on to New York where they expect to see the fair and some shows.

Last year David Reed, who was choirmaster at the Mill Valley Community Church and head of instrumental music for the Mill Valley Schools, went to New York to work on a degree in sacred music at the Union Theological Seminary.

Both music students, the girls studied with Reed and did baby sitting for the Reeds.

Merilou, who is the daughter of the Robert Holdens of Mill Valley, and Lois, the daughter of the Robert Clymers of Mill Valley, earned the money for the trip themselves.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID RICHARD FRACARO

Coco Moves Bow, Shows Pants, Capes

Other designers have tried such loose hostess pajamas but with the unique Chanel cut, her traditional jacket or matching top and the usual chain belt it was unmistakably "Coco" Chanel.

The audience of fashion press buyers and devoted Chanel customers, including Mrs. Andre Malraux, wife of the French minister of colture, were so excited at this new touch in her traditional collection they broke into shouts, cheers and a standing ovation at the end—the first such enthusiasm during the current fashion week.

The floppy slacks put Chanel firmly in the Paris pants craze that has hit most of the houses. It also marked the first time she ever has shown trousers since she began designing in 1914.

Chanel also included capes for the first time in her collection.

Since Chanel is probably Paris' most copied designer, it appears likely that women from Tokyo to Tennessee will be wearing Canel hostess pajamas and cape outfits next winter.

The audience sighed with relief to see that Chanel continued to show her famous suits that by now are a uniform—the same little double pockets on loose jackets, gold lion's head buttons, braid edgings, blouses matching linings, chain necklaces, two-tone sling pumps, etc.

Chanel put fur edging and collars on some suit jackets for the first time in years.

The Chanel models wore her traditional two-tone high-heeled pumps even with her slacks. One pair of black wool pants had a red lame jacket and blouse. With navy blue slacks she used a navy blue jacket lined with pale blue silk to match the blouse that had a sash and bow at the waist.

For more formal home affairs the Chanel slacks were of white and gold lame, with a short jacket and dark red sash and blouse. Several slacks were of glittering gold fabric or brocades with matching tops and floor length billowing coats of matching chiffon or white indian silk.

DESIGNER Michel Goma at the house of Jean Patou aimed as usual for the young market with his hooded coats, suits and zippy, low-cut cocktail dresses. His suits showed long jackets to the end of the hop and many dresses and coats had wide shoulders. Even his wedding dress had a hood of ruffled net.

'MAGPIE' THE ANSWER FROM PARISIANS

PARIS, (UPI) — Paris triumphantly displayed its answer to the topless bathing suit: A transparent black hostess gown.

Underneath, the mannequin wore skintight, flesh-colored panties, but at first, second or even third look you'd never know it. So the audience at the salon of Jeanne Lanvin let out a yell.

The billowing, floor-length gown of crinkled organza had long sleeves and a demure white organdy schoolgirl's bib and collar that hid her bosoms. To add to the innocent air, the salon served popsicles just as the model swished in wearing "Magpie," as the gown was called.

The entire effect, being beautiful and elegant, was more seductive than any bare-top dress ever could be.

DESIGNER Jules Francois Crahay (Mme-Lanvin has long since retired) also hopped on on the trousers bandwagon and paraded a selection of all-in-one bermuda shorts and tops in tweeds and knits, worn with matching or fur jackets and matching ribbed or lacy stockings.

According to the program, Crahay's creation is a "jet travel suit" which combines an English riding jacket and "Winston Churchill's famous siren suit."

FOR EXAMPLE, a two-thirds length beige-gray corduroy coat, doubled breasted and fitted at the waist like a riding jacket, was worn over one-piece bermuda shorts and a collarless top, as beautifully fitted as any Crahay sheath dress. The ribbed stockings were of the same beige-gray color for an one-tone effect.

CHANEL PANTS feature a bolero bodice, wide pants that sit straight on the hips with a flat sailor-style panel. The ensemble is in white, gold-shot silk with a scarf-collared open coat in white parachute silk.

The Rev. John McCarthy performed the double rites when Lori was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of ivory brocade in princess style.

Mrs. William Felcorn of Mill Valley was matron of honor, and Vickie Giesecke of Denver, Colo., a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. They wore full length gowns of deep rose crepe in empire style.

Ronald Fracaro of Waukesha served his brother as best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, Morton Giesecke of Eugene, Ore., and Victor Fracaro of Waukesha, another brother of the bridegroom.

Hints In Using Spray Starches

If you're having trouble using spray starches, here are some helpful hints from home economists at the University of Illinois:

Shake the can vigorously before each use.

Protect the ironing board cover and any nearby furniture. It's difficult to keep the spray in a small area.

If the can has been standing without use for more than a day, spray the first burst of starch into the sink.

Clean the soleplate of your iron often so the starch will not scorch on the iron.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

That Was A Notable Trio, Skipper

By MOLLY MARIN

The Saturday after the Republican convention, a big 38-foot cutter bogged down offshore Sausalito for lack of wind and failure of its auxiliary motor. A power boat was flagged down for the purpose of taking the sailboat's three passengers ashore.

It was embarrassing for the skipper of the cutter, Capt. Gordon Baxter, USMC retired, to have to ask for help. But one of the passengers had to catch a plane to Los Angeles, and the powerboat captain, obliging, hustled the two men and a woman ashore.

The passengers Capt. Baxter turned over to the power boat skipper were Peggy Goldwater Holt, her husband, Richard, and Peter Malatesta of Los Angeles, a close friend of the Goldwaters, and so far as Capt. Baxter knows, the power boat skipper still doesn't know the identity of the three people he took ashore that day.

Capt. Baxter took the trio sailing after the Holts expressed a desire to sail the bay at a cocktail party they gave during the convention attended by Capt. and Mrs. Baxter.

AMONG MARIN residents planning to attend an "Evening with the Stars" tomorrow night at the Cow Palace are Messrs. and Mesdames Carl Mosher with guests, Leland Wiesse, J.J. Hawley, Adolph Bremmer, Samuel Swadesh, Duane B. Beeson, R. H. Fink, Michael D. Healy and Mrs. Zeta McComas.

Others going from here are Messrs. and Mesdames William Crocker, Jr., J. R. Cedarblade, Harold Truett and guests, Murray Greenfield and their children, Frances, Joan, and Peter, Leonard M. Sperry Jr., Harold Watkin, Edward Parnell and Dr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson Jr. Also Mrs. Dorothy Chevalier and guests, Mary and Helen Henry.

WHILE THERE aren't as many exchange students in Marin this summer as usual, because of a special American Field Service conference in New York, three Mill Valley families are busy hosting visiting students from foreign lands.

Ilona Schulze of Wolfsburg, Germany, here on a Volkswagen scholarship, is spending the summer with the John K. Blooms while at the same time their daughter, Sharon, is visiting Ilona's family in Germany.

Ilona has seen much of Marin and has visited Sacramento. The Blooms plan side trips to Carmel and Fort Ross for their European visitor.

Staying with the John V. Buckleys is Margareet Verboog of Amersfoort, Holland, who is here under the International Christian Youth Exchange Program. The Buckleys' daughter, Jennifer, is staying with Margareet's family in Holland under the same program.

Saturday the Buckleys and their guest spent the day sailing. In the near future they will visit Henry Heilbrons in Carmel and Mrs. F. J. Connelly at Lake Tahoe.

VISITING THE Fred Zimmermans is his cousin, Doris Jaeger of Munich, Germany. Doris attended Washington State College at Pullman last term as a part of the exchange student program carried on between Washington State and the University of Bonn where she is a student.

At the end of the week the two girls will leave Marin to tour the United States on their way to New York to see the World's Fair and to Washington, D.C. After that, Doris will visit Barbara and her family in Virginia, awaiting the arrival of her father from Germany. Her father, a member and vice president of the West German Parliament, will be in the United States and Canada on business. They will return to Germany in September.

The American Field Service exchange students who will come from foreign countries to attend Marin high schools next term are expected to arrive in the county within the next few days.

MOVING TO Leisure World, a retirement community in Walnut Creek are Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Dunlap of Greenbrae and Mrs. Ellen K. Sohlman, also of Greenbrae.

Formerly a branch manager of the Monroe Calculator Co., Mr. Dunlap is a member of the Rotary Club and the Sales & Marketing Executive Assn., both of San Francisco. He and Mrs. Dunlap, residents of Greenbrae for the past ten years, have two children.

Mrs. Sohlman, the mother of three and the grandmother of three, plans to continue her enthusiastic bridge activities at her new home in Leisure World.

NEW RESIDENTS at Peacock Gap are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Reininga who have recently moved to Marin County from Belmont.

MRS. ROBERT JOY, daughter of the Leonard Blakelys of Sausalito, has returned from Panama, where she visited her husband who is stationed there with the U. S. Army. She teaches at the Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael.

Lannert-Pirenian Rite Performed In San Anselmo

Thomas W. Lannert claimed Norma Pirenian as his bride Saturday in an afternoon ceremony performed by the Rev. James Young at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaios Pirenian of Larkspur and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lannert, also of Larkspur.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza trimmed with seed pearls and crystal beads with a chapel train.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Marcia Hail Krum and her bridesmaids were Linda Murray, Virginia Frugoli and Linda Lannert. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of pink silk shantung.

George Kerbs was the bridegroom's best man and ushering guests to their seats were Frank Robert, Robert Gadow and the bride's brother, Gabe Pirenian.

Barry Authorship Is Underlined

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—Gerhard Frey, editor-in-chief of the weekly Germany National and Soldiers Newspaper, said today he was satisfied that an article it published under the by-line of Sen. Barry Goldwater was authentic.

The article criticized the planned North Atlantic Treaty Organization mixed-manned nuclear fleet. It also recommended that NATO countries, presumably including West Germany, should be trained and equipped with tactical nuclear weapons.

Goldwater's headquarters in the United States denied that he had written any such article.

Frey said today he was certain that the article, in this week's issue, "came from" Goldwater. He said that a deception was out of the question.

Frey said he received the article in the mail as part of the weekly West Und Ost (West and East) press service, to which his newspaper subscribes.

Frey said Dr. Walter Becher, West Und Ost press service publisher, is a personal friend. He said Becher also knows Goldwater from visits to America as a member of the Bavarian state parliament.

Becher's office said Becher was on vacation. But an aide said Becher brought the article back from his last trip to the United States about two weeks ago.

Frey said, "Dr. Becher is personally known to me. In view of his character I reject the possibility of deception categorically."

News Firm Buys San Francisco Office Building

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sheldon F. Sackett, president of The World of San Francisco and Oakland, Inc., yesterday announced purchase of a six-story building at 120 Kearney Street in San Francisco from Home Mutual Savings and Loan Co.

Sackett said the purchase price was $500,000 and that earnest money of $50,000 had been paid.

The Oregon newspaper publisher said he planned to use part of the now empty structure to house the accounting, advertising and executive operations of his newspaper ventures in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The building, erected in 1915, was vacated by the savings and loan company when it moved to Kearny and Market Streets.

Honey Bear

VANCOUVER (AP) — Stanley Park Zoo's new bear has a sweet tooth. Captured 80 miles south of Prince Rupert, B.C., the cub will eat only food that is covered with honey.

County Budget Now Available For Citizens

Copies of Marin County's proposed 1964-65 budget will be available for residents tomorrow, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported today.

Mitchell said that 750 copies of the budget have been printed.

Be Non-Partisan, Farmers Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson advised the National Agricultural Advisory Commission yesterday to put partisanship and prejudice aside to improve prosperity on the nation's farms.

"The time has come," the president said, "to find and put to use some better answers to farm policy than we have had in many years."

Addressing the group at the White House, Johnson said farmers have been getting good news about agriculture lately including increased exports, higher net income and higher profits.

Marin Tax Load Outpaces Population, Report Claims

Principal tax revenues of local governments in Marin County increased 51.2 per cent in the three fiscal years ending June 30 this year, according to the California Taxpayers Assn.

This was the fourth largest jump in the state. It was accompanied with a population gain during the period of 17.1 per cent, 11th largest in California.

The local tax revenues in the past year in Marin totaled $32,644,275, the taxpayers association reported.

The increase in Los Angeles County during the past three years of $227,562,151 was larger than the entire revenue taken in by local governments in any other county last year. Los Angeles local governments collected about $1,234 million last year. Alameda County was second with about $180 million.

They Discuss, Cuss Anything

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Some 200 business and professional men here are loosely organized as "The Needlers." The group meets for lunch at a local cafeteria, some members almost daily and others only occasionally.

The Needlers boast "no officers, no committees, no guest speakers and no reports," and never endorse anything. Membership cards state "attendance is not requested," and the group is dedicated to "the right to cuss or discuss any subject . . . to ignore anybody or anything."

These sessions have been going on for 17 years.

Summer School Wins Use Permit Extension

The Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday night agreed to grant an extension in the use permit for the Formative Years Training School to the end of the current summer session.

The permit, which the commission decided not to renew at its June meeting because of lack of adequate fire protection in the school, expired July 23. It was extended to Aug. 29.

LBJ Bids Educators To White House Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson has invited presidents of state universities to a White House conference Aug. 13.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said in announcing the meeting Wednesday that it would discuss state and regional problems that the institutions have been studying.

Road Bridge

CUTTACK, India (AP)—The 1½-mile Mahanadi road bridge, longest in the nation, has been completed to form an important link in the Calcutta-Madras national highway in eastern India.

Your Turn Is Coming To Get Smog Control Device

Up till now, the controversy over smog control devices on automobiles has touched only those who have bought or sold a used car in the recent past.

You cannot get a used car registered to a new owner until it has an approved smog suppression device.

New automobiles, starting in 1961, have come equipped with required devices and, unless they gave trouble, their purchasers haven't come face-to-face with the exhorbitant costs and problems that seem to afflict the second hand car purchaser.

But this is going to change.

About five months from now—Jan. 1, 1965—every auto in California will be required to have one of the devices.

If you own a car older than a 1961 model, you will have to have the device installed and you, too, will come face-to-face with the problem.

What, exactly, is the problem?

In the first place, you will probably pay substantially more than the device is worth to acquire it and have it installed.

Next, you may find that your car thereafter will develop all sorts of "new" troubles that produce a steady stream of garage bills, as well as resulting in lowered performance.

What can be done about this?

Some legislative committee should investigate the reams of conflicting testimony concerning the efficacy of these required devices.

If they are as useless and troublesome as they seem, the operation of the law should be suspended until proper devices are developed.

We hope our legislators are not being sweet-talked out of conducting a thorough investigation — sweet-talked by state smog control board bureaucrats.

Supreme Court Gives Boost To Protection Of Individual Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — In two tremendous pre-vacation decisions, the Supreme Court broadened its protection of individuals against self-incrimination when in trouble with either the federal or state governments.

It ruled:

1. The Constitution's Fifth Amendment protection—that a witness can refuse to give evidence he fears might incriminate him—applies to both state and federal proceedings.

2. Testimony of a witness promised immunity from prosecution by a state if he will testify in a state court cannot then be used to prosecute him in a federal court, and vice versa.

The Constitution's Bill of Rights adopted in 1791—including the Fifth Amendment—had been insisted upon by the states as protection for them and their citizens against the powerful, central, federal government.

FOR MORE THAN 100 years the Supreme Court reasoned this Bill of Rights applied to the federal government only, not to the states, although the 14th Amendment had been added to the Constitution in 1868.

This amendment, adopted three years after the Civil War, was intended to protect citizens, at that time particularly Negroes, from encroachment on their constitutional rights by the states.

It said in part: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

IN SHORT, national citizenship was paramount to state citizenship. Eventually but slowly the court began to overlap the 14th Amendment with parts of the Bill of Rights to protect citizens from unconstitutional state actions.

But as late as 1947 the court was ruling that the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination applied only to witnesses in federal proceedings, not to those in states. States, therefore, could suit themselves in this field.

On Monday the court reversed itself, cutting a new path, with a neat overlapping of the Fifth and 14th Amendments. Justice William J. Brennan wrote the court's opinion.

IT SAID A WITNESS who balks at incriminating himself in state proceedings can invoke the protection of the Fifth Amendment.

Brennan noted that the court had gradually been leading up to this historic point ever since the 1930s in a series of decisions which ruled out conviction of persons who had been coerced into confessing crimes.

All this links up with something else which has been one of the oddities of the American legal system. This involves a man who might have committed both a state and federal offense.

FOR SOME REASON of its own a state, perhaps to nail down some other offenders, could promise him immunity against prosecution in a state court if he testified. But the federal court, which had promised him nothing, could then use his state court testimony to prosecute him in a federal court.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg wrote the opinion which said there is no justification for permitting a man to be prosecuted for giving testimony which was supposed to make him immune to prosecution.

CART-PUSHING NOT NEEDED IN THESE SUPERMARKETS

Supermarkets in Sweden use computers to save customers the bother of carrying an armful of groceries or pushing a cartful of packages up and down the store.

Stocks of cards are placed below each item. Instead of helping themselves to a can of fruit or a carton of sugar, purchasers take cards for items they select.

Then, when customers reach the exit, they hand in their cards which are immediately fed into a computer. A bill is tabulated, and the stock room is notified of the specific articles purchased.

Soon after the customer has paid his bill, all of his purchases have been assembled, packaged and delivered to the front counter ready to go.

The countless advantages of our technological age certainly make life easier for all of us. But the more we benefit, the greater our responsibility to help all God's children share in the blessings of body and soul that He intended for everyone without exception.

"To whom much has been given, much will be required." (Luke 12:48)

While enjoying the marvels of science, let me also work to bring them to those still in need, O Lord.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Vote For Facts, Not On Fears

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Should the California electorate vote "yes" on the Initiative Measure the result will be that the Rumford Fair Housing Act of 1963 will be nullified and future State legislation in this field will be thwarted.

Those who feel compelled to vote for the initiative are motivated by several misconceptions and fears among which is the belief that property values will automatically be reduced by the introduction of a Negro in their neighborhood. In fact, however, as long as the community does not panic, property values will not plunge and, by the same token, the community will remain racially stable. It is only when men become afraid of living in an all or nearly all Negro community with "reduced property values" that they indeed make their fears come true by quickly selling out to profiteering realtors.

For example, a Negro professional family moved into an upper-middle class area in Cleveland, Ohio, several years ago. Although some white families became convinced that the neighborhood would imminently become all Negro, others had no such fear. The latter white families placed signs on their lawns which read, "Our houses are not for sale." Because of these individuals the community remained psychologically and financially stable.

It is hoped that in November we will vote on the basis of facts, not fears.

'The Texas Tornado' Needs Cabinet, Too

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re. Mr. Durr of Fairfax letter choosing a cabinet for the "Arizona Kid."

First, I'd like to remark on Mr. Durr's interpretation of Goldwater's controversial statement. Mr. Durr called it "extremists verus moderates." I took it to mean patriotic zeal as opposed to standing by watching traitors and misguided idealists take over. I hope I'm right. If I'm wrong, we'll find out soon enough and I hope it is still within the power of the people to oust undesirables from government should they prove undesirable.

Mr. Durr's choice of cabinet was typical of the Acid Left. Here's my projection of cabinet choice for LBJ—the Texas Tornado.

Secretary of State: Alger Hiss . . . These are perilous times and I'm sure that he has an efficient organization to take over.

Secretary of the Treasury: Whoever it was who promoted the idea of sending wheat to Russia to send to Cuba cheaper than we sell it to our own bakers. So that they can feed their hungry war machine while we fill their hungry stomachs.

Secretary of Defense: J. Robert Oppenheimer. This is a brilliant move designed to eliminate spending for defense. We would have peace—possibly at the price of enslavement, but peace.

Attorney General: Governor Wallace. You can't give him away, he is a Democrat, remember? And until recently LBJ's civil rights views haven't been too different from his. To use an old saw: "You can take a boy out of the Southern Democrats, but you can't take the Southern Democrat out of the boy."

Secretary of Labor: Harry Bridges, of course. Yes, it looks like we will have a choice in November. And it is about time, because time is running out.

Police Department Needs Improvement

Editor, Independent Journal:

Recently, I have called the police department twice for two different reasons. Through these experiences I have come to the conclusion that our police force could stand some improvement.

My first episode was about a month ago when one night around midnight some boys started tearing down our fence. I didn't hear them, but my neighbor did. She called the police then watched the boys from her house. A half hour later the boys left and no sign of the police. If they had come when she called they would have caught the boys. The next day I called the police to see what I had to do concerning the insurance. They said they had no record of it. Knowing my neighbor I know she would not say she called if she hadn't. The police said they would be right out and made a appointment for 1 p.m. At 5 they still were not here and my husband called and gave them "what for." At 6:30 they were out to see us.

The last incident happened a few days ago. A man was parked in his car from around 3:30 until 7. We have quite a few children on the block and I was getting concerned. It doesn't seem natural for a person to sit in a car that long. I called the police and they said they would investigate. An hour later the police came. The man had been gone for a good 45 minutes. When he left, to get the children out of the street, he just leaned on his horn and speeded down the street at a fast pace.

I'm by myself quite a bit and my husband and I both wonder what sort of protection would I get if I really needed it. It makes one stop and think doesn't it? I realize these are minor problems, but still we should have a little bit faster service than what I have been having.

LBJ Queries Friends On Running Mate

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — With the Democratic convention less than a month off, the president has personally started taking soundings on his possible running mate.

THIS HIGHLY significant first-hand polling is being done in two ways—in carefully unannounced White House talks, and in telephone calls to trusted party and other leaders in key states and voting areas throughout the country, including the South.

The president's usual procedure is as follows:

He explains he would like to get the visitor's frank private opinion of a vice presidential choice. Then the president hands the caller a typewritten list of six names, and asks what he thinks about any one of them in particular or all of them.

THE NAMES ON the list in alphabetical order are: Assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, Sen. Eugene McCarthy (Minn.), Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Peace Corps (and anti-poverty) director Sargent Shriver, and U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson.

If the caller indicates a special preference, the president listens closely and then also warmly lauds him. But in doing so, he very carefully gives no clue as to what he himself thinks about the proposed selection's "availability."

LATELY, THERE has been an important addition to the procedure in these White House talks. The president has said, "While you're at it, there are a few other first-class possibilities on whom I'd like to get your judgment."

With that, the president has mentioned four names—Senators Thomas Dodd (Conn.), Edmund Muskie (Me.), Abraham Ribicoff (Conn.) and New Jersey's Gov. Richard Hughes.

Dodd, one-time FBI man; Muskie, of Polish descent and former governor, and Hughes are Catholics. Ribicoff, Jewish, was HEW secretary in the original cabinet of the late President John F. Kennedy.

The president's soundings on them are directly attributed to the make-up of the Republican ticket. Sen. Barry Goldwater is part Jewish; Rep. William E. Miller is Catholic.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL Chairman John Bailey is on a sizzling hot spot—and so far has found no help in getting off of it.

Leaders of the newly-formed so-called "Freedom Democratic Party" in Mississippi have asked Bailey to attend their state convention in Jackson early next month to give a talk and to advise them on the selection of a delegation to challenge the regular Democratic delegation to the national convention.

Bailey asked the advice of Clifton Carter, close political confidant of the president, but to no avail. Carter referred Bailey to the White House, which has remained silent on the explosive matter.

MEANWHILE, Joseph Rauh, general counsel of the United Auto Workers and boss of the District of Columbia Democratic organization, is drafting a brief for the "Freedom Party" delegation to submit to the convention's credentials committee. This document will argue that the regular delegation should be ousted on the ground it will not support either the national ticket or platform.

Rauh claims the insurgents already have enough backing to formally challenge the regular delegation on the convention floor if the credentials committee, as is expected, rejects the ouster demand.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Lawmakers Poke Into Domain Of State Road Board, Scribe Says

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The policy of the state legislature in some cases—in wasting the public's time, money and energy in rehashing decisions of the state highway commission—is open to some serious questioning.

IN THE CASE of the Assembly Committee on Conservation, Planning and Public Works, headed by Assemblyman Ed Z'Berg (D-Sacramento), an extensive meeting was held at Eureka recently on the advisability of putting a freeway through Prairie Creek State Park.

Acting within not only its rights but in its jurisdiction as previously mandated by the legislature, the highway commission will consider the route and is prepared eventually to construct the freeway, which, from all indications, will give the people of the northwestern part of the state a modern road to replace the old, narrow, winding and dangerous path skirting through the area.

HOWEVER, THE complaints were not long in starting when it became known that the highway commission intended to "desecrate" the state park. Of course, the park is fairly large, and one freeway more or less through it would in a matter of time fail to be noticed. Such a freeway, of course, would give the public easier access to the recreation area and provide for its fuller use by the 17 million people in the state.

So the Z'Berg committee, which has no jurisdiction over highway routes in California anyhow, decided to take a hand. The committee really dismayed the local folk of the northwest when it became known the members flew to Eureka and avoided the tortuous miles of substandard road the public must now travel to reach the extremities of U. S. 101.

THE CONTROVERSY over the road has reached national proportions. It is over the adoption of one of three major alternate routes. The present route is one, a route along Gold Beach is second, and on the high ridges to the east of U. S. 101 is a third.

Lengthy testimony was given the committee from local residents in the area. The Humboldt and Del Norte county boards of supervisors are in favor of either the beach route or the present route.

Conservationists and representatives of the division of beaches and parks argued in favor of the ridge route.

The people of the area state that 175,000 people in the redwood country depend on U. S. 101 as their only all-weather connection with the rest of California.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the conservationists, appearing to contend the arguments made by the people who will put the future highway to the most use, were from such places as Berkeley, San Francisco, Malibu and Los Angeles. The conservationists testified about what they called the "integrity" of the state's system of parks.

In the background is a big plan which would put the area in a proposed Redwood National Park, a move which would seriously affect the lumber industry in the northwest. The lumber industry is the prime industry of that area. Many people can recall the events of 30 years ago, when the industry shut down and was "saved" when the state started buying redwood lumber to build the old "causeway" between Davis and Sacramento into a four-lane highway.

In any event, the Arcata hearing of Z'Berg's committee presages a bitter legislative battle next year.

In HIS version, the boy and the girl, after their joyous run, will stop and look at each other for a moment, then change their minds and keep on running.

Diamond also is weary of opening shots that show the skyline of lower Manhattan with the legend "NEW YORK" superimposed thereon. Citizens Should Know The Ropes Before Protesting Marin Taxes

TAXPAYERS WHO appear before the Marin County Board of Supervisors to protest their property tax assessments can save a lot of breath if they check the ground rules before launching a tirade.

The rules, set forth in a little pink pamphlet, indicate it will do the taxpayer no good to talk about the amount of his taxes, his ability to pay, hardship resulting from the taxes or the manner in which tax funds are spent.

TRUE, THE TAXPAYER can get a lot off his chest in these areas, but he won't get a cent off his taxes.

The only thing that counts is whether he can prove that his assessment is unfair, and the supervisors start the hearing with the assumption that it is fair.

TAXPAYER—I think it's ridiculous to have to pay $7,000 in taxes on a one-bedroom cottage.

SUPERVISOR—Irrelevant.

Supervisor—Irrelevant.

Taxpayer—I'll go bankrupt.

Supervisor—Irrelevant.

TAXPAYER—Well, I think you're wasting too much of my tax money on frills, like those new-fangled cars that don't need a crank.

SUPERVISOR — We saved about $47,600 last year by not buying cranks . . . but this is all irrelevant.

Taxpayer—That's irrelevant.

Taxpayer—Okay, then how come I've got a $7,000 tax on my one-bedroom cottage and my neighbor only pays $2.98 for his cottage?

Supervisor — Maybe he doesn't sleep in it.

TAXPAYER—As a matter of fact, he doesn't. He has wild parties all night.

Supervisor — There's your answer, it's no comparable use of the property. You sleep and he doesn't.

Taxpayer—Okay, what about my neighbor on the other side? He's only paying $379 in taxes and he sleeps there.

Supervisor — Who is your neighbor?

Taxpayer — You are. Don't you remember me?

SUPERVISOR — Oh, yes. I remember now. Gentlemen, I suggest we give this man a reduction . . . let us say to $379.

Video Watcher Grows Jealous Of Happy 'Super Americans'

NEW YORK (AP)—There are days when I would like to be one of the super Americans.

The world they dwell in is not the world I live in. It is a far, far better world. It is a veritable wonderland.

The thing that makes the world of the super Americans superior to the commonplace world you and I inhabit is that, when they have a problem, some kindly person tells them of a product to buy that will solve it, and they live happily forever and ever.

I have been watching the wonderful world of the super Americans on television for some years now, and here are a few of my favorite characters:

The guy taking a shower with a new kind of soap and looking so happy you feel sure there must be a mermaid tickling his feet.

The freckle-faced kid who brushes his teeth with a toothpaste that saves him from 34 per cent of the cavities that fall to the dumber kids.

The fellow who finds a friendly neighborhood banker who shows him how to borrow money for a new car for $243 less than it would cost if he printed the money in his basement.

The girl who bulges like an elephant, but when she puts on a $5.95 girdle immediately turns into a gazelle.

The lean fellow on horseback who gets such deep masculine pleasure out of his cigarettes — and never, never breaks into a hacking smoker's cough.

The rollicking lads with the big foamy steins of beer, who go on endlessly drinking in a bar where the waiter never seems to bring a bill.

The comfortable housewives who get a new lease on life every time they find a new can of something that will take the stain out of their kitchen sink, or a box of something else that magically makes their laundry whiter than white.

Such are the super Americans, and the happy world in which they flourish—a world in which for every problem there is a ready and available solution. All you have to do is buy a certain product — and usually it costs "only a few cents more" at most.

Some people knock this world of the super Americans. They say it is merely a souped-up fairyland of advertising illusion.

But not me. All I know is that it is a far better world than the glum one I wade through day after day, and the people in it are more joyous and carefree.

Apparent lack of interest in several Marin communities is delaying formation of a committee to formulate a postwar planning setup, general chairman George Goheen complained. At the group's last meeting, Sausalito was only sparsely represented; Stinson Beach, Novato, Belvedere and Tiburon were absent.

San Rafael City Council, perhaps having in mind the recent presidential suggestion that surplus funds be used to pay off debts, voted $6,800 to pay off the last of the debt against the harbor, thus wiping out the debt a year ahead of the last due date and leaving a balance of $12,000 of the harbor funds.

Directors of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce voted "hearty disapproval of a proposal to install parking meters down town. The resolution listed seven reasons against the "new form of taxation."

Storm Starts Utility Truck

SYDNEY (AP) — A utility truck was parked in the street, handbrake on and in gear.

Storm clouds gathered overhead. Then came three great thunderclaps, so loud that houses shook and windows rattled. The utility truck started to run down hill, and kept going for 200 yards until it hit another vehicle.

Utility owner T. O'Dea said he believed the thunder knocked his car out of gear and released the handbrake.

MIDDLE EAST SHIFTING

Three Nations Try DeGaulle Tactics

By SAM COHEN
Worldwide Press Service

ANKARA—The tripartite union recently formed by Pakistan, Turkey and Iran may well spell the doom of the Central Treaty Organization, in the view of many Western observers here.

All three of these non-Arab nations of the Middle East are members of CENTO, along with Britain and the United States.

The purpose of CENTO — which was known as the Baghdad Pact until the revolutionary coup in Iraq (1958) and that country's subsequent withdrawal (1959)—is to provide a defensive shield against Soviet penetration on the northern tier of the Middle East.

What effect the new regional grouping will have on that purpose is a question causing considerable speculation here.

The idea of establishing a regional grouping outside CENTO was put forward early in July in Ankara, the CENTO headquarters, by President Ayub Khan of Pakistan, during a two-day official visit.

In his view, "small nations" such as Pakistan, Turkey and Iran are doomed to be used as pawns of "big powers" such as the U. S., the Soviet Union, Red China and India, unless they unite.

Adopting Gen. Charles de Gaulle's line, Pakistan's president argues that if they form a solid political and economic front, they can raise their voices louder and get a better hearing, from their allies and the world, on both national issues and common development problems.

Ayub Khan's timing was very good, in terms of winning a favorable reception from Turkish leaders. For Turkey is presently engrossed with the Cyprus issue and needs world support. Also, it coincides with the emergence of a new trend in this country, for a more independent foreign policy within the Western alliance.

Ayub Khan, who at present resents the West for its military aid to India, won the hearts of many Turks when he drew a parallel between the Cyprus issue and Kashmir. Both Turkey and Pakistan have been disappointed by the attitude of their Western allies on these problems.

Turkey's acceptance of Khan's idea is regarded here as the first clear sign of Premier Ismet Inonu's intention of pursuing "a more independent policy dictated by national interests."

This has been warmly welcomed by all those who have been pressing the government in recent weeks for a revision of Turkey's foreign policy—particularly the military and the intellectual communities.

Cooperation between the three nations will mainly center in the fields of agriculture, industry, communications, mining, education, health and regional development. But a system of political consultations and coordination will also be developed through frequent meetings — at least three times a year at the foreign ministers level.

This will enable the three allied governments to concert their policies outside CENTO and, when necessary, to run their own show.

High officials of the three countries have given assurances that the new union will not be anti-CENTO. But Ayub Khan, when here, did not conceal the fact that the main purpose in establishing such a Moslem link was to present an appearance of not being dependent on the West, but to the rest of the Middle East, and thus to attract other nations in the area which are allergic to Western inilu-ence. He mentioned Afghanistan as a probable joiner, based on his recent talks in Kabul.

Pakistan's president made it clear that since neither the United States nor other Western countries are behind the new grouping, the Arab countries have no reason to hesitate in joining it. "Our doors are wide open to them," he said.

Many Turks are having some second thoughts about the new union, however. One fear which has been expressed in the press is that the new Moslem link may encourage religious reactionary elements in this country "to turn their eyes to the Islamic Orient," whereas one of the basic principles of modern, secular Turkey is "Westernization."

President Ayub's emphasis on the religious basis of the new tie has displeased many progressive Turks. The leading "Milliyet," for instance, wrote:

"The Turkey of Ataturk cannot look on the new grouping as a political movement based on religious unity. This secular country sees international relations from a different angle than Pakistan. It is important that we avoid interpreting the new setup as a policy of 'return to the East'."

Other reservations have been expressed on: how the new ties will affect Turkey's relations with NATO and the European Common Market; who will play the leading role (Turkey is as eager to as Pakistan); and how much outside support the common development projects could hope to receive under the circumstances.

The feeling in government quarters, however, is as expressed by Metin Toker, son-in-law of Premier Inonu and editor of the influential newsmagazine "Akis":

"The tripartite union was not established just to side with the West against communism; nor will it play neutral and blackmail the West. The new union will act independently, will talk to any power without an inferiority complex, and will gain friends among the Third Force.

"The meaning of this is that Turkey has now decided to play its part in a new world."

Experts Deny That Fido Fails In Cities

Not on your life, says dog expert Alfred Dick, the new executive vice president of the American Kennel Club.

"I think dogs are becoming more meaningful, more useful, more necessary for their companionship, the joy that can be anyone's who has a dog," he said.

Isn't space becoming a problem?

"You have to live in New York to see how valuable dogs are to people who live in small apartments. I have seen the biggest kind of dog come out of the smallest places," he said.

"Dogs thrive in cities. Every dog I see in the streets of New York is happy. They must have a place in the lives of the people who own them. They have to walk them before work and in the evening, and that takes a lot of doing."

Dr. Frank R. Booth, a veterinarian from Elkhart, Ind., offered these statistics:

There are 25 million dogs in the United States. This country produces five billion tons of dog food a year. It takes 170,000 tons of steel to package only the canned dog food.

Dog foods outsell baby foods and breakfast cereals combined.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

British Medics Intrigued By Story Of Infant Crying Before Birth

VAN DELLEN

Seven years ago we carried a story about an expectant mother who heard her baby cry before birth. Around the same time, the Lancet, a British medical journal, published a review of more than 100 such cases covering a period of years. Another English physician described a current case of a baby who also cried prior to birth. The membranes had ruptured and the infant was turned manually to make delivery easier. As a result, air entered the uterus, which may explain the phenomenon.

THE SUBJECT seems to intrigue British physicians and they continue to bring it up from time to time. A recent issue of the British Medical journal carried an item about the intrauterine cry. The mother had toxemia of pregnancy and the obstetrician decided to induce labor by rupturing the bag of waters. As he was withdrawing the instrument, the baby gave two cries that were loud and clear. The surprised mother thought delivery had occurred but it did not take place until 24 hours later.

This story was disbelieved by a Cambridge man who contends that human vocal cords cannot function unless air passes through them. He doubts that crying could occur when there is no air in the lungs of the unborn babe. He says the "voices" heard by patients and their attendants probably stem from air in the pregnant woman's intestine.

THE NEW ENGLAND Medical Journal picked up the story and concluded: "The line between unborn and newborn is sharply drawn, the first "breath of life" frequently being used as a symbol of entrance into the world at large." In other words, if real sounds occur, the baby is not unborn but newborn. The editorial continues, "intrauterine voices are stimulated by the shrill winds in the pregnant abdomen."

The May 16 issue of the British Medical Journal has a followup letter from an Oxford obstetrician who says the prenomenon has been known for more than 2,000 years. In Livy's History of Rome, "he records a case which occurred in Italy during the critical days of the second Punic war in 214 B.C. On this occasion, the Romans were encouraged by a fetal cry —Io triumphe—to persevere and ultimately overcome the fears of their time. It is to be regretted that the fetal cries of today contain no encouragement for us to endure our present hardships."

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

DROOPING STOMACH

Mrs. H.B. writes: Can a woman with a dropped stomach do all her housework?

REPLY

Yes. It is normal for the stomach to sag or droop when standing, especially after a heavy meal. A gain in weight will help keep the stomach in place by providing fat depots in the abdomen.

MANY ORGANS INVOLVED

W.B. writes: Can lupus erythematosus affect the kidneys?

REPLY

Yes. This bizarre disease of connective tissue may involve all organs of the body. The skin and joints are afflicted most often.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

Mr. E.R. writes: Does rheumatic fever in an adult differ from the childhood type?

REPLY

STOMACH POLYPS

REPLY

Not necessarily, as only 10 per cent of these lesions are malignant. Larger polyps are more likely to be cancerous.

Patient Helps Doctor's Bill

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The woman was complaining to the doctor's secretary that the bill was too high.

"Don't forget," the secretary said, "the doctor made a half dozen visits to your home when your son had the measles."

The woman smiled and replied: "Don't forget the business my son created. He infected half the school."

You Can Drop Dead In Florida

She replied, "You should, sir. We have some beautiful cemeteries."

Even Heaven Gets Careless

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It was a quiet summer evening and Anne Mitchell, her mother and 4-year-old brother were out walking.

"Where is heaven?" the boy asked.

"It is thought to be somewhere above the skies," replied Mrs. Mitchell. "We don't really see it, but we believe it is there."

A moment later, the boy jumped up and down, announcing excitedly: "I see it: They left a light on," he exclaimed, pointing at a star.

Bottle And Jars Popular In America

NEW YORK (AP)—The average American family each year uses the contents of about 1,480 bottles and jars, reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute. This is more than any other rigid container. Some glass packages come into the home and are discarded after their contents are used.

Others, like milk bottles, make many trips. Products packaged in glass are counted in the thousands. They range all the way from sweet milk to sour pickles and far beyond.

Novato Annex Factions Fire Opening Shots

The battle was joined today over annexation of Ignacio and Loma Verde to the City of Novato.

Opponents got in the first licks, distributing a circular Tuesday which asked residents in the 642-acre area proposed for annexation not to sign annexation petitions.

Circulation of petitions themselves is to begin tomorrow. Next Monday at 8 p.m., Novato city officials will discuss advantages of annexation at a public meeting at Loma Verde School.

Distribution of the "anti" circular was announced by Mrs. Gordon Berg of 218 Calle de la Selva in Loma Verde. It argues that annexation would increase taxes for Loma Verde residents, would not improve fire protection, schools, water, sanitation, library or post office services—none of which is provided by the city, and that an election on annexation Nov. 3 would cause confusion because of the proposal for unification of Novato and San Jose School Districts being up for decision in the same election.

It shows a map of Novato with the proposed annexation surrounded on three sides by the city. It urges annexation to make possible participation in local government, increase police protection, improve street maintenance and cleaning, provide a recreation and park program, and eliminate confusion because of Ignacio and Loma Verde being virtually surrounded by the city.

It advocates "buying into a growing community."

The Novato City Council last night set a time schedule for the annexation proceedings.

The council will meet at noon Aug. 7 to receive petitions. These must carry signatures of 25 per cent of registered voters in the areas proposed for annexation to qualify the measure for the ballot. To block it, anti-annexation petitions would require signatures of owners of 51 per cent of the assessed valuation to be annexed.

First public hearing on the annexation—if the petitions qualify—was set for Aug. 28, with second hearing on Sept. 9.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Learn To Judge Bad Play By The Ability Of Player

What is a bad play? Your standards depend on the player as well as on the play.

It is enough if the absolute beginner manages to follow suit, but you expect far more than this of the experienced player.

Opening lead — ♡ 3

FIRST TRICK

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart, and drew trumps with the king and queen. South then took the top clubs and gave up a club.

West naturally led a spade, and declarer had to lose two spade tricks to East. Down one, and since declarer was an expert we must scold him for making a bad play.

DANGEROUS OPPONENT

South should see that West is the dangerous opponent because a spade lead by West would give the defenders the chance to take two spade tricks.

East is not dangerous because a spade lead by East would give dummy a trick.

For this reason declarer must develop the clubs without giving the lead to West. The only sure way to do this is to play a low heart from dummy at the first trick.

DOESN'T MATTER

East's return doesn't matter, but suppose he returns a heart. South discards a club, thus completing the exchange. He gives up a heart trick but does not lose a club trick. What's more, the heart trick is given up to East — the safe opponent.

South draws trumps with the king and queen, then cashes the top clubs and ruffs a club. Dummy's last two clubs are good, and South gets to dummy with a trump to discard his two spades on the good clubs.

East can hold declarer to eleven tricks only if he cashes the ace of spades at the second trick (an unlikely play).

QUESTION

♠ A J 10 3
♥ K J 10 8 6 4
♣ J 5

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart.

You have 10 points in high cards and 3 points for the distribution, enough for an optional opening bid. You decide to bid rather than pass largely because of the strength and length in the major suits.

Chilean Vote Perils U.S. Copper Setup

The companies, frequently plagued by strikes, may be taken over by the government after the Sept. 4 presidential election. A communist supported candidate who is running a strong race, Salvador Allende, says flatly he will nationalize the mines if elected.

Not all the workers are disgruntled, but one at Sewell, the town around Kennecott's El Teniente Mine, 120 miles south of Santiago, told a reporter the U.S. companies "are like a huge octopus, suffocating us to death."

"We need Allende or another leftist to win the election so we can have better salaries and lower prices of consumer goods here," he added. He spoke with the understanding he would not be identified.

The man's grumblings were echoed by half a dozen other miners. They were idly leaning against the rails that keep people from falling down along the stairs that replace streets at Sewell, a town of 13,000 precariously perched on the 45-degree slope of a 9,000-foot mountain.

These men are the best-paid workers in Chile. Against an average per capita income of $325 a year, copper workers make around $2,000 a year, plus such benefits as free medical care and cheap rent.

The Anaconda and Kennecott copper companies handle nearly 90 per cent of copper production in Chile, through a billion-dollar investment in four mines.

The mines include Kennecott's El Teniente, the world's largest underground mine, operated by a subsidiary, the Braden Copper Co.; Anaconda's Chuquicamata, in northern Chile and one of the biggest open-pit mines in the world; and two smaller Anaconda mines.

These produce well over half a million tons of copper every year. Work has been stopped 123 times by strikes since 1955, when new legislation was adopted. These strikes have cost Chile 280,000 tons and 168 million dollars in lost production.

The two U.S. companies pay the government 80 million dollars a year in taxes. Chile draws around 70 per cent of its foreign exchange earnings from copper.

"If government personnel or workers in other fields go on strike, the government shows a firm hand," said a top executive of a U.S. copper company. "The troops come out, the strikers are fired and the movements are quickly broken."

"But come a copper strike, and the story changes. The government of President Jorge Alessandri doesn't want to endanger the goose laying the golden eggs. So, they come to us and say: 'Come on, fellows, give the workers the raises they want so we can settle this thing quickly.'"

"We try to do what is best for our country, but always keeping well in mind the rights and interests of both the companies and the workers," a high official said.

Not all copper workers complain.

"We live all right," said Jose Sanhueza, 27. "The food is expensive but we have many other compensations, including good salaries." He makes around $190 a month.

Both Kennecott and Anaconda keep their non-Chilean staffs at a minimum. Out of 7,000 persons working for Kennecott, only 23 are Americans. There are 400 Chilean executives and technicians being paid in dollars. Of the 8,000 persons at Anaconda, 80 are American and 320 Chileans earn high salaries paid in dollars.

Army Permit Sought For San Rafael Dock

Rudolph Lindquist of 27 Sorrento Way, San Rafael, has applied to the Department of the Army for a permit to build a dock on San Rafael Creek at Sorrento Way.

Anyone wishing to object to issuance of the permit on navigational grounds may submit objections in triplicate by Aug. 27 to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, 180 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

Japanese Tour India

NEW DELHI (AP)—The number of Japanese tourists visiting India increased a spectacular 16.7 per cent in 1963, the government says.

Absentees Not Enough To Swing San Anselmo Bonds

Absentee voters balloted overwhelmingly in favor of the San Anselmo School District bond issue and state loan last week, but they weren't numerous enough to turn the tide of defeat.

The Marin County School office announced yesterday that the absentee vote for the $700,000 bond issue was 71 yes and 13 no.

The absentee vote for the $500,000 state loan was 72 yes and 12 no.

Despite the absentee vote, both issues failed to get the necessary two-thirds approval of the voters. Counting the absentees, the final results were: bonds: 1,312 yes and 713 no; loan: 1,272 yes and 730 no.

Woman Leader Shuns Goldwater

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Mrs. Elizabeth Heffelfinger, former Republican National Committeewoman and a power in the Minnesota GOP for 20 years, has announced she cannot "at this time" support Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

Mrs. Heffelfinger, who supported Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the GOP nomination, said Goldwater's acceptance speech at the San Francisco convention "doesn't make sense."

Of his statement that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue, Mrs. Heffelfinger said.

"You have moderation all the time in your family, among your friends, in business and politics. It's fascism to think you can get your way all the time. You have to compromise."

Two Marin residents are among eight persons named to the Republican State Central Committee by Rep. Don H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), congressman from the First Congressional District.

Clausen today announced his appointees, including Robert D. Huber, attorney and former mayor of Mill Valley; and Roger F. Morse of Sleepy Hollow, former mayor of Corte Madera.

The Mogul emperors who ruled northern India three centuries ago "discovered" Kashmir. They built magnificent pleasure gardens there that still delight visitors.

County Employee Blood Donors Time Off Asked

A proposal to give county employees at the Civic Center a half-hour off and transportation, if needed, to donate blood to the Marin County Blood Center in San Rafael will be presented to the County Board of Supervisors.

Blood donation by county employees has decreased since offices that were formerly located in downtown San Rafael have been moved to the Civic Center, reported County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

In a letter to the board, Mitchell requests permission to circulate an appeal for blood donations and suggests that 30 minutes time off and transportation could be allowed.

The film is part of the theater's summer film festival, and it marks the return of the "Young Classics" portion of the series to the Festival Theater from its temporary quarters in Wade Thomas School.

Old Cars, Original Immovable Objects

Red Tape Snarls Protect Hulks In Countryside

By RICHARD LYTTLE

You can paste campaign posters on them; you can plant geraniums in them; you can even plug up the holes, fill them with water, and put gold fish in them.

All these things would be easier than trying to mave them. That's the way the laws of California are when it comes to abandoned vehicles.

Old cars left on private property are soon stripped of the wheels, later the headlights, and finally the rear axle, transmission and motor. The rest remains an eyesore for all who see it and a heap of red tape for the property owner and state officials charged with administering the law.

If a property owner takes it upon himself to haul the abandoned car off his land without going through the legal channels he is leaving himself open to a criminal charge, car theft.

Even after he goes through channels, it will probably cost the property owner some money to get a junk dealer to haul the wreck away. After a car is stripped, most of its value for wreckers is gone.

Officer Paul Zensius of the Marin office of the California Highway Patrol is one of the local officials who handles complaints about abandoned cars. He thinks the laws need to be changed.

The Highway Patrol can arrest an owner for abandoning his car. That is provided by law, but the practical application of bringing such a case to court is limited.

"The problem is finding the owner," Zensius explained. "Usually he takes off, sometimes even leaving the state."

If the car owner cannot be brought to court, and the property owner with the unsightly car on his land wants to get rid of it, there is a way, but it is involved and takes time.

The property owner must write the car owner of his intention to sell the car. Copies of this letter must go to the Highway Patrol and the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

But this is not as simple as it sounds. There must be an appraisal made by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Stan Wilsey, special investigator for the department's Marin office, is the man who makes such appraisals here. If he determines that the vehicle is worth less than $75 (which it usually is) notices can be posted near the abandoned car setting a date of sale.

However, his appraisal first has to be certified by the owner of the land, who becomes a lien holder on the car. The certified appraisal is then sent to the department's central office in Sacramento for processing.

This takes about six weeks. When the state office approves the sale, an auction can be held with the old auto going to the highest bidder. The trouble is that there never are any bidders on an old wreck. Nobody wants it except for the lien holder, who wants to get rid of it.

Once he has ownership, the lien holder usually must pay a wrecker for hauling it away.

When a car is appraised at more than $75, the sale must be advertised through legal notice in a newspaper. This takes more time and more money.

Economics play a role in the problem. Wreckers, who get $14 a ton for car bodies, cannot be expected to grow enthusiastic about picking up scattered hulks. By the time the guts have been removed from a car, it weighs less than a ton. And the wreckers have to haul their scrap to Niles, about 55 miles from Marin. There is little or no profit in it, Zensius explained.

There is also labor involved in getting the auto ready for scrap. The upholstery has to be ripped out by hand. Burning is no longer allowed in Marin.

Officer Zensius sees the need for a new state provision that would go something like this:

When a man buys a car, he must deposit $1 with the state. This would go into a fund to provide for hauling away abandoned cars. Since not all cars are a problem, the fund could provide about $10 as hauling fee for wreckers to pull each abandoned vehicle to a wrecking yard.

Zensius realizes that it would mean more bookkeeping and it would have to be done through state law. Local agencies have no jurisdiction over vehicles.

Wilsey is not too enthusiastic about Zensius's suggestion. But he admits that he has no alternate to suggest.

"All I know is that something's got to be done," Wilsey said.

MARVELOUS MARIN?—Abandoned autos, such as this hulk that has graced the scenery at the side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls for two months, do little to uphold Marin's reputation as a spot of scenic beauty. But getting rid of them is almost as tough as looking at them. (Independent-Journal photo)

Demos Will Hear GOP Theoretician

The Sausalito Democratic Club will sponsor a public meeting to discuss political issues next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Alta Mira Hotel.

Main speaker will be Laurence G. Kraus of Belvedere, an investment banker and political analyst, who will speak on "Reform through Rules Change in the Context of Present Day Convention and Congressional Politics."
